HOURGLASS POTS

The Hourglass Pots are made for both indoor and outdoor use and can be used both ways. A rubber lid in both ends makes sure that the pots are sealed tight. When placed outside, make sure to remove this lid so excess water can drain from the pot. We recommend that the pots stand in the lee of the house or under a roof. The pots will look their best if you bring it inside when the weather freezes. Always remember to empty the pot for excess water to prevent rusting.
