

Gadgets

162,500

A spacesuit made NASA's 1960s Gemini space missions sold for $162,500 in January 2019

Gentlemen's Hardware

Bike buddy

You can leave it to British brand Gentlemen's Hardware to come up with the best gadgets in a stylish, vintage-look disguise. Just check out this bicycle tool kit. The slim wooden toolbox consists of everything you need to adjust, tune and repair your pedalling pride and joy. And it doesn't just look cool, it's extremely durable and easy to take with you. The kit includes a socket tri-tool, ball end hex key set, a combination crosshead and flathead screwdriver, and more, all made from ultra durable stainless steel. €50; wildandwolf.com

Tens

Filtered life

While many sunglasses make your view darker, Tens has come up with a way to protect your eyes and colour up your life at the same time. The lenses of Tens' sunglasses come with a special filter that drench your world in rich, orange tones. Having been inspired by Wes Anderson's movies, they make you feel like you're happily walking around in a sunny postcard from the 1970s. The warm colour palette is scientifically proven to put you in a better mood, as will the knowledge that the frames and lenses are both handcrafted from sustainable materials. €89; tens.co

"Artificial intelligence is not that big, scary thing in the future. It's here with us"

Fei Fei Li (1976),
American
computer science professor

Four Leaves

Clean sheets

Fresh sheets and towels are more than a small luxury in many parts of the globe. Having been adopted from a Sri Lankan orphanage, Amsterdam-based designer Shiran Gort wanted to give back to children in his country of birth through his Four Leaves brand. By buying a set of Four Leaves bed linen or towels, you donate a sleeping bag or clean towel to an orphanage in Sri Lanka. From €49.95; four-leaves.com

Kooduu

Mood maker

It's a lamp. It's a speaker. It's a cooler. Listening to your favourite music while enjoying ambient light and chilled drinks has never been easier. The Synergy Pro by Kooduu is made up of a series of Bluetooth speakers that feature warm LED lighting and a multifunctional, ingenious compartment that can be used as a cooler or a vase. From €115; us.kooduu.com

