

Remember Me When...

Written by Todd Williams
Illustrations by Ciara Compton

A grandfather sat with his grandchild one afternoon.

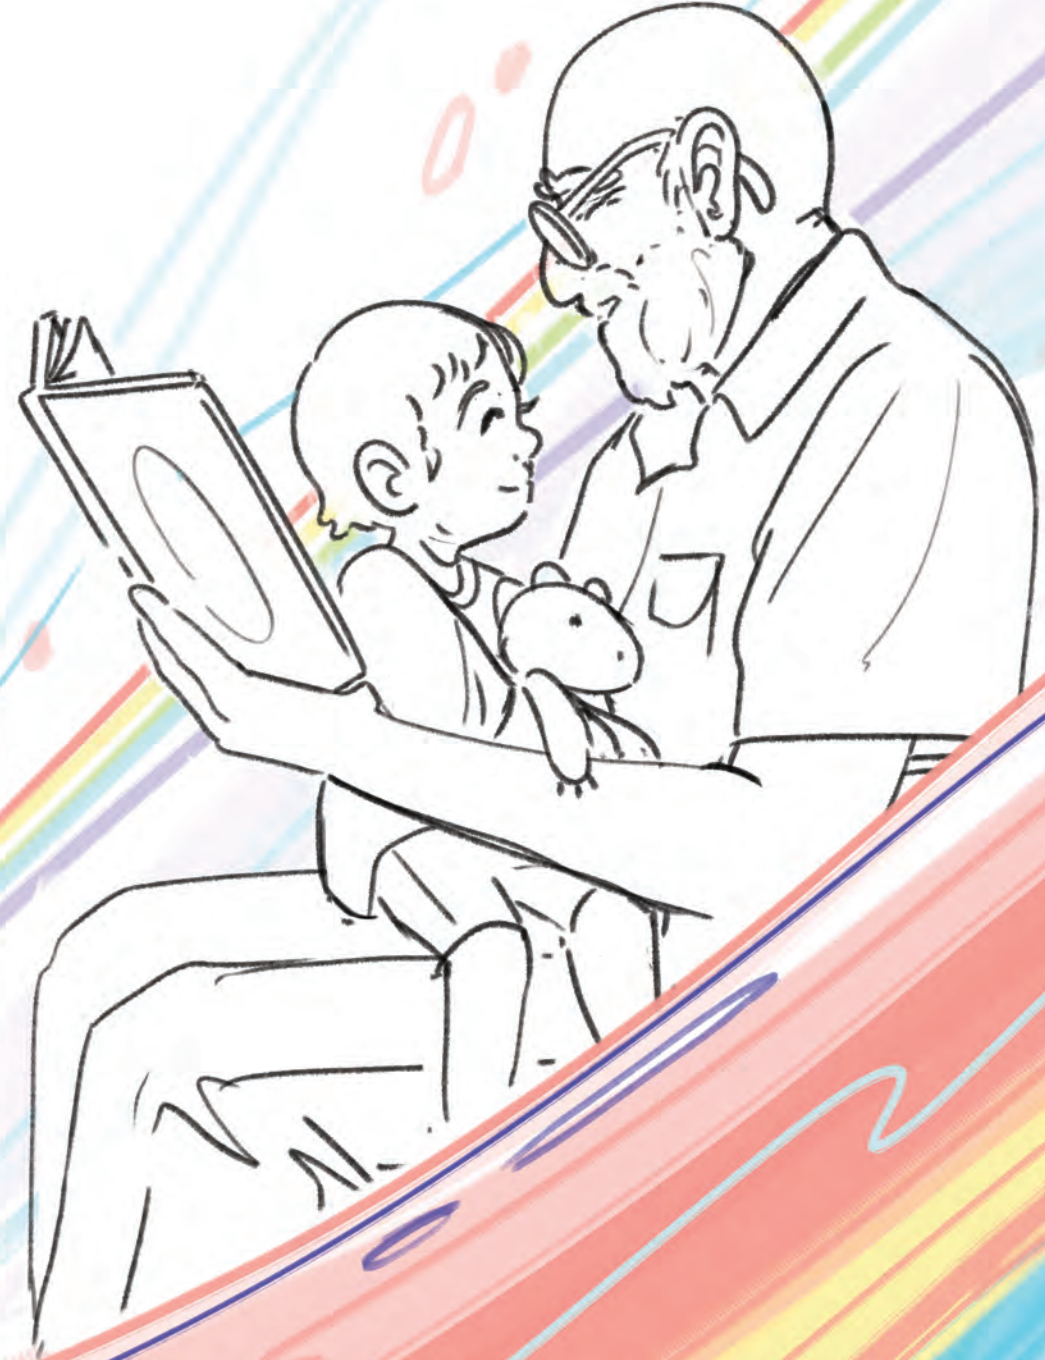

The grandfather said to his grandchild,

"You know I love you so much."

He continued,
"But there will come a day when my heart will stop.

I will no longer breathe, and I will die.
I will no longer be able to sit with you like I am now.

"When that day happens, there are other ways that I can be with you.
You can remember me when..."

Remember me when...
you see butterflies
flutter in the sky.

Remember me when...
you laugh out loud.

Remember me when...

you enjoy a snowcone
on a hot summer day.

