Letter of the Week: “M”

Colors of the Week: Skin-tone colors

Concepts:
- People are the same in some ways, and different in other ways
- We all have people that love us, just as we are
- There are special and good things about everyone
- We should try to understand and learn about people that are different than we are, and treat them nicely
- How we look usually comes from one or both of our parents
- It is important to take care of our bodies and stay healthy
- Everyone has a “story” (life) that is all their own
- You have choices, and can make good decisions or bad ones. Your choices will determine how your day is, how your life is, if you have friends, etc…
- All people have feelings like we do, and have different kinds of feelings

Sensory Table Idea:
Purchase several skin shades of the inexpensive bubbles of knee-high nylons. Children can put on their arms and explore and compare the differences in shades.

Art Activities:
- Add a mirror by the easel. Put out skin and hair tones of paint. Children may choose to paint a picture of themselves (a self-portrait)
- Fingerprint Art! Children draw features onto the fingerprints they stamped, making animals, objects, etc…
- Footprint paint with the children stepping into a shallow pan of paint and then walking it off on a long piece of butcher paper, making prints
- Add to your art collage area – different hair colors of yarn, googly eyes, felt in skin, eye and hair colors, multicultural crayons, fabric, markers and paper, etc.
- Children can trace and cut out the outline of their hands
- Profile silhouettes. Place a bright lamp behind child to create a shadow to outline onto paper.
- Body tracing of children. Children draw on features, clothing, hair, etc…
- Have children draw Self portraits
- Add simple stencils of the outline shape of children to the art area. Make a few simple stencils of “clothes” for the children to trace onto discarded wallpaper book pages – to cut out and “dress” people. Variation: Felt
- Make a group project “People Collage” with pictures cut from magazines (or children can each make individual collages)
- Make “Me! Personal Shields” Cut a piece of paper into a shape of a shield, and, with a pencil, divide into 4 squares. In one, have children draw themselves; next one - their family; in one - something they like or that makes them special; in another one - their home. Encourage them to share what they drew and why, and how it tells about who they are
- Make playdough in skin tone colors Variation: Add Mr. Potato Head facial feature pieces to use with playdough; Add people-shaped cookie cutters
- Children can cut out pictures from magazines of eyes, noses, mouths, ears… They can then glue together combinations to make silly people faces
- Make a friendship chain. Have children cut strips - to be stapled together at the ends, making a circle. Interlock the next one…. Discuss how we need other people and friends, and how we link together too
- Allow children to fingerpaint on a mirror. Encourage them to paint or change features “onto” their face in the mirror
- Make paper plate faces using yarn, etc. Place many choices of materials out and allow children to be creative and use whatever things they choose
- Cut paper into the shape of a hand-held mirror. Children can draw or paint their face onto their “mirror”. Variation: Add a circle of aluminum foil for the mirror
- Cut out “frames” from wallpaper sample books. Glue to another full piece of paper. Children can draw a self portrait into the center of “frame.”
- Pull out all of the crayons that are skin, hair and eye colors, and put them out for children to draw with. Variation: Have the children sort the crayons
- Make “Me” puppets out of paperbags using yarn for hair, markers, etc
- Make coffee filter watercolor flowers. Cut string the height of each child. Display by having the string be the stem of the child’s “flower” (and will show height of child) Variation: Place picture of child in the flower center
- Write big outlines of the letters in the word “ME”. Children can cut pictures out of magazines or catalogs of things that they like, and glue them into the letters to fill them in. Variation: Send home as a family project; Use name
- Make “Family Tree”s” (Can also be a family project)
- Have children each decorate a Pringles can to send home, to create a Personal “Time Capsule” (cover with a piece of paper, wrapped around it, taped on)
Cooking Experience:
Discuss individual favorite foods. Choose several that would be appropriate as a simple class cooking activity. Take a vote of the class, then prepare the food selected by the majority. Extension Activity: Compile a favorite recipe book.

Community Time: ("Circle Time")
Monday: Take dictation from the children on a large sheet of paper, writing their responses to the question: "What do we know about ourselves?" (Display chart)
Tuesday: Write each child’s response to the question: "I am good at...... ?"
Wednesday: Chart: "What words do we know that begin with the letter ‘M’?"
Thursday: Have children reply to the sentence "One thing that is special about me is ________________"); "What does it mean to ‘believe in yourself’?"
Friday: Recap: "What did we learn this week about ourselves?"

Follow with books, songs and fingerplays related to the curriculum theme “All About Me!” Let the children know what the choices are for the morning and what activities are new in the classroom for the day. Dismiss the group a few at a time, reinforcing special attributes of each of the children in some way.

Math Activities:
- Weigh and measure children. Bring in a scale and some other objects to weigh as well (a brick, a heavy book, etc) for comparison; After measuring how tall children are, take a piece of string and run it from head to toe. Cut the length of the child’s height. The children can then also compare strings, in addition to standing side by side, to see who is tallest/shortest
- Have children line up shortest to tallest. Have the children do comparisons and figure out the order (Record height/weight in each child’s portfolio)
- Estimation. After weighing children have them make a guess of something in the classroom that they think will weigh the same as they do
- Measure the feet of willing participants. Compare sizes
- Count and name which body parts come in pairs, and what we have just one of
- Counting Ten fingers and Ten toes! Finger subtraction.

Home/School Connection Ideas:
- Ask parents to bring in a copy of a picture of their child as a baby
- Ask parents to draw a picture with their child of something special they have done together (send home art materials to do project, if necessary)
- Ask parents to tell their child about the day when they were born
- Ask parents to bring in items representing their culture (and hopefully discuss)
Science Table Enrichments:
Add several shapes and sizes of mirrors; magnifying glasses; and paint sample swatches of skin, hair and eye colors; a measuring tape, pictures of internal body parts, an old (real) x-ray, a stethoscope, an illustration of a strand of DNA, books, etc…

Science Concepts/Activities:
- Take fingerprints of the children and have them look at them under a magnifying glass. Let them compare to fingerprints from other people. (Enlarge on a copy machine, if possible)
- Show children how to look at the back of themselves by looking in the mirror and holding another mirror up behind them. Hypothesize/discuss.

Prop Box Ideas/Dramatic Play Enrichments:
HAIR STYLIST/HAIR CARE
- Plastic combs
- Rollers
- Appointment book
- Hair dryer (w/ cord cut off)
- Curling irons (cord cut off)
- Posters of hair styles
- Wigs/wig heads

- spray bottles
- plastic capes
- magazines
- empty shampoo bottles
- telephone
- towels
- hairpins
- barrettes
- brushes
- play money
- ribbons
- hair clips
- headbands

Note: Things used on hair must be sanitized after use by children; Supervision is critical to prevent cutting or unbraiding of hair.
Facilitate discussion on the differences in people’s hair, and how we take care of our hair.

Movement and Motor:
- “Head, Shoulders, Knees and Toes” Action Song
- Sitting in a circle, have children roll a ball to a friend and say his/her name, and something special or nice about that person
- Let children move to music in creative, free expression
- Fun Love/Hate Run On one side of the gym put a sign that says “Love” and one on the other side that says “Hate” (or ‘Like/Don’t Like’) Name things (Ex: broccoli, snow, etc.), and children run to whichever side, showing if they like that item or not
- Play the Hokey Pokey as a review of body parts
- “Bones/No Bones” game. Discuss how bones support the body. Children move as an animal or an action the Teacher names. When the Teacher says “No Bones!” they drop to the floor (or change their movements to very loose)

Playground/Walk Activities:
While on a neighborhood walk, discuss where people reside, and how that is their neighborhood and where they call “home”; Show children their shadows
Transition/Waiting Ideas:
- Use and sing songs that include individual children’s names
- “What can you see that begins with the letter ‘M’?”
- “If your name begins with the letter _____ you may…”
- “Who knows in what ways people are all the same?”
- “When I call your name, I want you to tell me something that you are good at… then you may choose an area to go to.”
- Hold up name sentence strips at the end of grouptime or an activity to dismiss children from the group as they recognize their name.
- Play a game in which children pick the next person to be dismissed from group or to go to the next activity, to reinforce learning and knowing names.
- With pictures of the children that can be held up, recite the familiar “Brown Bear, Brown Bear, What do you see?… I see ______ looking at me”

Block Area Enrichments:
Place a clipboard with paper on it, (and a pencil) in the Block Area, so that children can plan/draw what they want to build. At the top of the pages write “I can build a…”; Add letter blocks, and children can spell their names or find letters in their names.; Add hardhats and mirrors to the area; Velcro a mirror to the floor to build on.

Flannel Board:
Add/make facial feature pieces for children to put together combinations of faces; Add round pieces for “faces” to put the features onto.

Teacher Made Enrichment Ideas:
- Make a ‘Letter Box’ with small trinkets and objects, beginning with “M”
- Make a sock sorting activity with several pairs of socks in a basket
- Make a growth chart for the class
- Make “Me” puzzles by gluing a picture of each child onto heavy cardstock. Cut into several pieces to make a puzzle. (Or name puzzles for each child)
- Create a “It’s still Me! Box”. Include a mirror, eyeglasses, a fake mustache, wigs, fake Dracula teeth, sunglasses, scarves, hats, clip-on earrings, a pretend beard, etc…
- Make a “Feeling Wheel” by sectioning off the round cardboard from a frozen pizza. Write a feeling in each section. Children put a clothespin (with their name on it) in the segment that they choose. Variation: Can be made to be used with magnets, Velcro, etc.; Use as a ‘call out’ – children act out each
- Make a “Life Stages” sequencing activity by drawing or finding pictures that represent the stages of growth in life (baby, toddler, young child, school-aged, teen, young adult, middle-age adult, elderly) Children put into order.
Field Trip Ideas: (Contingent on location and accessibility)

- Take a trip to your local library. Arrange to have a children’s librarian read a story incorporating the theme of the week. Ask the librarian to pull out related children’s books on the topic of self-concept or “I am Special.”

Supplemental Ideas/Activities:

- Bring out “Mr. Potato Head” for children, if you have one
- Chart eye colors of children (Have them identify and tell the color – using a mirror if necessary, or if they want)
- Place pictures of the children onto the blocks in the Block Area
- Name tracing Write names in highlighter marker for the children to write over for the children that need this
- Have children match each other to their baby pictures
- Bring in skin-tone colored paint swatches
- Make “All About Me!” books for each child, with their vital statistics and preferences on things, etc… (height, hair/eye color, favs, weight, family info)
- Review/learn body parts. Older children can research and learn more sophisticated and detailed information.
- List/chart what things all people have in common
- Take pictures of the children. Cut out and glue onto craft stick to make a “puppet” of each child. Variation: Make matching game with 2 pictures each
- Draw a “family tree”. Children can draw the people they are related to, or add pictures Variation: Have families bring in pictures
- Have children bring in a favorite stuffed animal or book to share at grouptime
- Bring in several varying shades of foundation makeup. Show children the differences in shades – and what happens when mixed.
- Discuss allergies. Talk about how some people can’t be around certain things, or eat certain things, or they get sick. Let children that have allergies share this information with the group, if they choose to.
- The Milton Bradley game “Guess Who” teaches children to notice, identify and differentiate facial features, and individual differences (Can make one)
- Write each child’s name on a piece of sentence strip. Let children glue dry beans (or rice, etc) all along the lines of the letters; Or Let children glue small pieces of torn tissue paper on letters, making a name “mosaic”
- On sentence strips, write each child’s name. Hold up, for example, at the end of grouptime, to dismiss children from the group as they recognize their name. Work individually with the children that do not yet recognize their name, running their finger over the letters with them, telling them the names and making the sounds of the letters. (Focus on first letter and length of name)
- Tape record individual children talking into a tape recorder. Have children guess who is speaking as they listen to the tape
- Who’s Missing? Play by having a chosen child out of the sight of the group; Or… at grouptime children can try to figure out who is absent for that day.
- Children can make/decorate “treasure boxes” for special items of theirs.
- Make an activity with a chart: What I Can Do/ What I Need Help With/ What I Will Learn. Children categorize what they have mastered/learned
- As a group process, write down all of the feelings children can name. Ask to describe each feeling, and show how someone looks when they are having each feeling, etc…; Ask what they can do when they have each feeling, etc.
- Incorporate items in the classroom from different cultures, representing all of the children. Check classroom for multicultural pictures and materials.
- With willing participants, touch and compare people’s hair; discuss. Compare and contrast. Discuss different things that can be done to hair, the different colors and styles, the texture, genetics, etc…
- Bring out any pictures you have taken of the children, to look at together, to make a collage with, or to make a bulletin board with
- Teach or review with children addresses and phone numbers
- Review the 5 Senses, and include related activities the children enjoyed during the week of that theme
- Discuss &/or list ways in which we can take care of ourselves and our bodies
- Incorporate pictures, materials or activities on feelings/emotions
- For older children, facilitate a discussion about when it is okay &/or necessary to think about yourself (ex: safety),… and in what types of situations you should put others first (ex: sharing).
- Chart “favorite” items, or other commonalities
- Glue a mirror to the bottom of a small box. Tell children that there is something very special and unique in the box! After letting them guess and wonder, tell them not to tell their friends - so it stays a surprise… then let them look inside of the box (one at a time).
- Find pictures of people expressing different emotions. Have children mimic the facial expressions in a mirror. Variation: “Feelings” Simon Says
- Update (or create) children’s Birthday Board.
- Have children sort/categorize crayons based on if the color is a shade of skin, hair or eyes.
- Make “All About Me!” mobiles. Use a picture of children, a picture of their family, a drawing or picture of their house, and pictures of things they like and like to do, (cut from magazines or drawn) Trace and cut out hands, feet. Criss-cross 2 metal hangers to hang strings from.
- Play a game of elimination based on children’s features. The teacher calls out a characteristic, and all children that have that feature sit down. (Ex: green eyes) Last child standing gets to call out features for next round.
- When complimenting children, focus on the behavior(s) you want to see and personality traits… not superficial things, or things children have no control over (ex: wearing expensive clothes)
- Show children how to make a spiral shape by twisting a pipe cleaner around a pencil. Tell children that all of us are made up of smaller pieces, and there are smaller pieces called DNA that are spiral-shaped “codes” or recipes that have information about how we are made up. (ex: how tall we will be, color of our hair, color of our eyes, etc.)
- Make a conscious effort to give every child a positive message about themselves on a daily basis, and some individual, undivided attention.
- Display children’s open-ended artwork, and show children how different, unique and one-of-a-kind each piece of art is. Encourage individualism.
- Reflection art - fingerpaint on aluminum foil (or a mirror)
- Ask/discuss the phrase and concept of: “believing in yourself”.
- Children can make a picture frame by decorating and gluing 4 craft sticks together. Put a picture of child in frame. Write on bottom “I am Special”
- Read “Leo the Late Bloomer” Have children cut out flower petal shapes and a circle. Write on each petal something that child can do by themselves.
- Ask children when their birthdays are. Show them the Birthday Board in the classroom, and that they are included; Or Let them place their name and date on the month it falls in, and be a part of that process
- Mastering self-help skills is a big self-confidence builder. Work with children on independence and self-sufficiency in dressing, cleaning up after themselves, etc. – and praise them for mastering these things and for efforts.

I am Special

*Tune: "Frere Jacques"

I am special, I am special,
Look at me,
You will see,
Someone very special,
Someone very special,

It is me! It is me!

All of Me!

See my eyes.
See my nose.
See my fingers.
See my toes.
See my lips.
See my knee.
Now you have seen all of me!

I am Special

Hundreds of birds in the sky,
Hundreds of fish in the sea,
Hundreds of flowers in the field
But there's only one of me!

Me!

There's no one in
This whole wide world
Exactly just like me.
I am me and
You are you,
We're all special,
don't you see?

I'm Very Happy to be Me

_______ is my hair,
_______ are my eyes.
I'm _______ years old,
I'm just the right size.
My name is _______
And as you can see,
I'm very happy to be me!

Me!

I have 10 little fingers
And 10 little toes,
2 little arms, and 1 little nose.
1 little mouth,
And 2 little ears,
2 little eyes
For smiles and for tears.
1 little head
And 2 little feet,
1 little chin -
That's me! I'm complete!
Glad to Be Me!

Sometimes I wish I was someone else, but mostly I’m glad I’m ME!
We all have our likes and differences as everyone can see.
Some of us like to hurry, some like to take our time.
Some spend all their money, some save each dime.
Some are good at English; some are good at math.
Some of us like showers some prefer the bath.
Some of us are quiet; some of us are loud.
Some of us like to be alone; some of us like a crowd.
Some of us are tall; some of us are short.
Some like to play an instrument, some like to play a sport.
Some of us are black or brown, and some of us are white.
Some of us leave the light on when we go to bed at night.
All of us are special as everyone can see,
You like you, and I like you, but also I like ME!

Everybody Says

By: Dorothy Aldis

Everybody says
I look just like my mother.
Everybody says
I'm the image of Aunt Bee.
Everybody says
My nose is like my father's
But I just want to look like ME!

I Am Me!

I am special because I am me!
And there's nobody anywhere just like me
I have my own shape and my very own size
My very own hair and my very own eyes.
I like what I like, and dislike some things too.
You're special too, but I can't be you!
'Cause the very best person that I can be...
IS ME!
Mirror, Mirror

I look in the mirror and what do I see?
A very wonderful, special me!
(Point to self.)
With pretty eyes all shiny and bright,
(Point to eyes.)
My smile show my teeth all pearly white
(Smile and Point to teeth.)
It certainly is great to be
This very wonderful, special ME!
(Hug self!)

I'm Glad I'm Me

No one looks
The way I do.
I have noticed
That it's true.
No one walks the way I walk.
No one talks the way I talk.
No one plays the way I play.
No one says the things I say.
I am special.
I am me.
There's no one else
I'd rather be!

Nicknames
by Kenn Nesbitt

My aunt calls me "Elizabeth."
My grandma calls me "Liz."
My sister calls me "Lisa,"
and the baby calls me "Wiz."

My uncle calls me "Betty," while my grandpa calls me "Beth."
My brother calls me "Dizzy Liz" or sometimes "Lizard Breath."

My teacher calls me "Betsy,"
and my friends all call me "Bess."
I find these nicknames more annoying than you'd ever guess.

I wish that they would call me
by my real name instead.
I simply hate those nicknames;
see, my real name is Fred!
Life Stages Sequencing:

Small Group Activity:
Let children cut pictures of people out of magazines, then categorize by life stage.

Why compare one against the other?

Each one is different

Each one is special

Each one is beautiful
“Feelings” Puppets

Cut out pictures and glue onto craft sticks to use as puppets. Encourage discussion about feelings, emotions and positive ways to express feelings. Variation: Use real pictures of people, or pictures cut from magazines.

I Can!  By Peter and Katie Stewart

I can use my imagination
To set a fantasy free
I can perform and be someone else
The inspiration comes from me!

There are places I'll explore
That I may never get to see.
There are people I can play
Who I may never get to be.
Not tomorrow, but today
I can through dramatic play!

I can be a pirate
With my dirty, strong mates.
Through my spyglass I look for treasure
As I sail the seas and straights.

I can be a princess
Beautiful and fair
The only entrance to my tower
Is to climb up my long hair.
I can be a fairy
And know how to fly
I'll wear a dress made of petals
Drink honey and never cry.

I can be a dish
And run away with a spoon.
Or a genie in a lamp
Or ride a unicorn past the moon.
I can dance around a tribal fire
Or daintily sip my tea.
Or I can make people cry, clap, and laugh
The inspiration comes from me.

And after I've been every thing
I can possibly pretend to be
I can realize how special
It is to be me!

5 Senses Dice

Directions: Cut out dice (all in one connecting piece.) Fold so that it makes a square. Tape. Children take turns “rolling” the dice. Whatever sense the picture represents that it lands on, children name something that is done with it. Ex: “Nose – can smell popcorn.”
“Our words should be like a magic camera upon which a child cannot help but paint a positive picture of himself.”

- Haim G. Ginott
MY FEELINGS
By Meish Goldish

There are things I have that I can’t see,
Things that change inside of me.
What, oh what, can those things be?
My feelings!

When a friend calls up and says “let’s play,”
When I play outside on a sunny day,
When my favorite dinner is on its way….

I’m ___________ !

(Ask children what kinds of things make them happy)

When I can’t go out because of rain,
When my tummy hurts and I’m in pain,
When my favorite toy goes down the drain…

I’m ___________ !

(Ask children what kinds of things make them sad)

When thunder booms, and the lights go out
When suddenly I hear a shout,
When an ugly bug will crawl about…

I’m ___________ !

(Ask children what kinds of things scare them)

At times I’m happy,
At times I’m sad.
At times I’m scared,
At times I’m glad.
I know I’m me,
Because I have…

My ___________ !

(Ask children what other feelings they’ve had)

Have children make up their own feeling riddles!
Me I Am!

I am the only ME I AM
Who qualifies as me;
No ME I AM has been before,
And none will ever be.

No other ME I AM can feel
The feelings I’ve within;
No other ME I AM can fit
Precisely in my skin.

There is no other ME I AM
Who thinks the thoughts I do;
The world contains one ME I AM,
There is no room for two.

I am the only ME I AM
This earth shall ever see;
That ME I AM always am
Is no one else but ME!
WHEN I WAS A BABY...
I am Black
I am Unique
I am the Creamy White frost
in a vanilla ice cream
And milky Smooth Brown
in a chocolate bar
I am the Midnight Blue
in a licorice stick
And Golden Brown
in sugar
I am the Velvety Orange
in a peach
And the Coppery Brown
in a pretzel
I am the Radiant Brassy Yellow
in popcorn
And the Gingery Brown
in a cookie
I am Black
I am Unique
I come from ancient
Kings and Queens.
When you look at me,
What do you see?
I am Black
I am proud to be me

‘Feelings’ Dice

Directions: Cut out dice (all in one connecting piece.) Fold so that it makes a square. Tape. Children take turns “rolling” the dice. Whatever ‘feeling’ the picture represents that it lands on, children name. Can have children mimic that face, talk about experiences, &/or use for the next verse of “If Your’re Happy and You Know It” (Better yet... use real pictures!)
