

EDITORS' PICKS / SEPTEMBER 18, 2020

LINKS WE LOVE

We're back with another edition of #LinksWeLove, where our editors share the discoveries that caught our eye this week. Though events have gone virtual in 2020, there are some really cool ones you'll want to check out. Plus, a home accessory line to ready your space for fall, the latest from designer Leanne Ford, and an opportunity to support women running for office and up your jewelry game:

— Next week, the LA Design Festival kicks off! From September 24 – 27, you can join in on free events including virtual tours, join in on talks with industry experts, and see inspiring installations. Find all details here.

— Artist Laura Deems has released the second volume of her digital publication! LD Journal explores her latest collection, offering insight to her inspiration and beyond. Take a peek!

— Do you feel like your home needs a total refresh? Vitruvi to the rescue! Their new essential oil bundle features 4 fresh scents to make your space feel light and bright.

— We've said it once, we've said it probably 1,000 times: a quick and affordable way to update your home decor is with throw pillows! Interior designer Alison Giese and Lauren Meichtry of Elsie Home have collaborated on a new collection that's earthy, muted, and moody... perfect for fall!

— In an effort to help save the birthplace of Bloomsbury, the Charleston Farmhouse in the UK, paint, color expert and creator of Chalk Paint Annie Sloan is offering a one-of-kind virtual tour. Proceeds will support Charleston's Emergency Appeal Fund, since the nonprofit has suffered terrible financial losses due to the pandemic. You can snag a ticket here.

— Leanne Ford has done it again! Her new collection with Crate & Barrel features stylish tabletop pieces (just in time for fall!) and an adorable children's line for Crate & Kids.

— Need to zen out? PLUS, the best-selling cannabis gummies brand, is hosting a new Sleepytime series on IG Live this week (@plusproductsthc). We'll be tuning in on the 22nd for Evening Breath Work and can't wait for the Sound Bath on the 29th!

— New York-based interior designer Josh Greene has a collaborative approach to creating stylish environments that balance functionality, warmth and comfort. His collection for Dowel is exclusively available on the West Coast at Lawson-Fenning. Happy shopping!

— Treat yourself to a new necklace while supporting EMILY's list, an organization that supports diverse and progressive women in getting elected to political office and striving to close the gender gap one political seat at a time. The Kamala Harris Coin Necklace by Awe Inspired is a cheeky addition to any jewelry box, and offers support during Kamala's historic journey towards becoming the 46th Vice President.

Image originally published here.