This commitment to quality service has helped us grow our portfolio just shortly after we launched.

first FOCUS ON FUNCTION

START WITH THE END IN MIND

Begin crafting your apparel with a clear-cut function in mind. Starting a project can be overwhelming if you'll jump to the execution right away. Save time and resources by following these tips from us.

Start with the questions:

Who will utilize the item of clothing?

What is their lifestyle?

Where will they wear it?

How will they wear it?

It's important to put yourself in the shoes of the people who will use the pieces and make function the utmost priority.

The function has to coincide with your peg and style of choice. It is best to consult our team on the purpose of your customization project so we can recommend tried and tested tips that will help you create a quality clothing or item that is wearable and stylishly functional. We've worked with a plethora of projects and our job is to make lasting and quality items that can be used for a long time.

Function always comes first. As much as we all want to dive into the fabric and decorations right away is best to be aligned on the purpose of any project before getting started. Our team in Craft Clothing is here to help you every step of the way.

“Consider the purpose and function of the project before anything else.”

Second CHOOSE THE FABRIC

One of the major considerations in creating your custom apparel is choosing the right fabric. When picking out a fabric, it's best to take into consideration who will be using the clothes and in what conditions will it be utilized. Remember, when the clothes are impractical, it loses its style and character.

The good thing about Craft Clothing is we will help you choose the perfect fabric for your customization project. We don't want you making the wrong decision so here are some of our suggested fabrics that have that cooling effect—perfect for our humid and tropical Philippine Weather.

Cotton - Who doesn't want to stay comfy? Let's start with the classic and staple choice for tropical countries like ours. With cotton's breathable fabric, it is a no-brainer choice if you want your clothing to feel light and airy. It absorbs sweat effectively, keeping its wearer feeling fresh and cool all day long.

Polyester - Popular for its durability, Polyester is the preferred material for athletic wear. It has the ability to draw moisture from the skin perfect for any sweaty situation.

“As much as we want a well designed clothing, the fabric choice is the top priority that we need to consider first.”

Polyester Blends - Polyester alone is an excellent choice, but when mixed with other fabrics like cotton, it's a match made in fashion heaven

Start with the right fabric that will support the design and function you want and it will turn out fabulous!

FINISH WITH DECORATION

*Brand it.
Make it your own.*

Time to put that final stamp that will make you truly own that piece of custom clothing or item; decorating it with your brand icon, brand name, or both! You can also put unique visuals all over the fabric and show more elements of your brand. To help you achieve that, here are the decorative processes you can choose from.

SILKSCREEN - Silkscreen printed shirts is an affordable way of branding mass-produced giveaways or uniforms. This type of printing is recommended for designs of up to four spot colors. In this process, a mesh is used to transfer ink onto a substrate. If you are doing a large print run at a more cost-efficient price point, silkscreen printing is the practical choice.

EMBROIDERY - A great way to brand items is through embroidery. Embroidered logo on clothing is one of the best ways to elevate your branding on uniforms, shirts, and jackets. If your brand logo is composed of specific colors and intricate details, this is the better option for you. Our seasoned sewers make sure that every piece of clothing is made with excellence. Alongside this, we have programmable embroidery machinery to achieve the exact look of your brand name or logo on the fabric.

SUBLIMATION - This is another dye transfer technique where the ink penetrates deep into the fibers which makes it extremely fade-resistant. This means that this process can outlive other printing methods like the heat press transfer and silkscreen where the ink is technically on the surface of the fabric it is applied on. If you want your prints to last a lifetime, Sublimation is a sublime choice!

SPECIAL FEATURE

What is SUBLIMATION PRINTING?

Get full-on print on all kinds of items

Imagine transferring your design not just on polyester fabric but also on a wide variety of hard surfaces using poly-coating?

Sublimation printing gives you all the options to customize an entirely new world of items you can customize - coasters, jewelry, mugs, puzzles, and much more!

Sublimation printing is something we do in Craft Clothing, so partner with us and let's make magic together.

Sublimation is similar to the heat transfer paper process. The process involves printing a design onto a sheet of sublimation paper and pressing it to a garment with a heat press. Known for its durability, the images you produce will surely last.

What makes this type of printing different is that the sublimation ink, when heated, turns from a solid to a gas that embeds itself into the polyester fabric. When it cools, it goes back to a solid and becomes a permanent part of the fabric.

There's no additional layer on top, so the fabric feels light despite the added print on it.
