CITRUS MINT

Life. It's all about balance, isn't it? Like eating pizza while reading a fitness magazine, or a post-yoga glass of wine. Speaking of balance, we designed this lotion with a special blend of citrus and peppermint essential oils that are somehow both refreshing and calming at the same time. Fully loaded with naturally hydrating oils and skin-soothing extracts for the total package. Balance...it's a beautiful thing.

COCONUT LEMON

How can you make a lotion smell this good? Start by eating a large piece of coconut lemon cake, then sneak another piece when no one's looking (don't judge). Get inspired to put that feeling into a lotion bottle. Make a lotion that's highly moisturizing, but also feels light (unlike the two pieces of cake). Add coconut extract for a delicious scent, a bit of lemon essential oil for some zing and mix it all together. Easy peasy lemon (and coconut) squeezy.

Bar Soap

Squeaky clean.

GOATSMILK

Why add goat's milk to soap? Because it helps make soap even more gentle. And you know what they say – mo gentle mo better. Okay, maybe it's just us that say that, but it's true isn't it? And since we dig gentle soap we added some calming lavender essential oil and a just a bit of sweet orange essential oil to make it smell mo nice.

Exfoliating

COCONUT VANILLA

OMG – WOW – That smells soooo good – It's making me hungry...all things people said when they first smelled this soap. We agree, it does smell delicious, and with all those beautiful little vanilla bean specks...it's tempting...but trust me when I say it does not taste as good as it smells. So let's all just use it as a really good exfoliating bar of yumbelievable smelling soap.

ATHLETE SALT SOAK

We've all been there: brain's a little more ambitious than body - pushed a bit too hard at the gym, didn't know your leg could bend that far in yoga...ouch. Ever had to back down a set of stairs because your legs were so sore? Been there. Sore muscles are no fun at all, but at least they're a reminder that you've moved the needle, so to that we say – Good Job, keep going! Now hop in a hot bath with some ATHLETE SALT SOAK ease your muscles and take pride in knowing that even though you're sore you're moving forward. High fives!

COCONUT SALT SOAK

Wouldn't it be cool to be on a white-sand beach right now, in one of those little cabana huts getting a relaxing massage while sipping a drink out of a coconut? Yes please. Are you picturing it? The waves gently crashing on the beach, palm trees swaying in the warm breeze...Those are some good days. When we made this recipe we wanted to inspire that same special feeling – salty water, coconut scent, and that warm feeling on your skin...a little escape in a busy life. Coconut drinky not included. Sorry.

REFRESH SALT SOAK

I remember when I was a kid...summer holidays...those were the days. Hanging out with friends all day, staying up late, and eating popsicles in the blazing sun – so refreshing. When's the last time you enjoyed a popsicle on a hot summer day? I, for one, think it's time we spent more time hanging with friends, staying up late, and definitely eating more popsicles. When you're in need of a refreshing blast and you can't get your hands on a popsicle just throw a little REFRESH SALT SOAK in a hot bath, slip in and reminisce about little you on summer holidays.

RELAX SALT SOAK

Calm down, chill out, dial it back a notch, slow your roll...just relax. Sometimes life's a tickle fight and sometimes it's a slap in the face. We vote for more tickles and less slaps but sometimes that isn't the way it goes. When you need to hit the reset button: Unplug, breath, add some RELAX SALT SOAK to a hot bath and float away to that special place where tickles are aplenty and chocolate chip cookies are considered health food. Awe yeah...

Soaks

Relax, take a bath.

GOOD MOOD SALT SOAK

Bad moods are a bummer, good moods are funner. That's why we blended a soak with mood-boosting Bergamot and Spearmint essential oils. When you need to get the good mood mojo moving just press play on your favourite playlist, do a little happy dance, and slide into a hot bath with a Good Mood Salt Soak.

BREATHE SALT SOAK

Some days are filled with challenges. Like missing your bus to running out of wine...Booooo! It's easy to get thrown off your game now and then. So we made this uplifting soak with mind (and sinus) clearing eucalyptus, tangy lime, and refreshing spearmint essential oils. Because sometimes you just need to stop and breathe.

Step 1: Add to bath.
Step 2: Deep breath in. Deep breath out.
Step 3: Smile :)

COCONUT MILK SOAK

If you like Pina Coladas Know that song? I have to be honest; those are the only words I know, and usually just sing along by making the rest up (you know what I mean) - I'm not even sure who sings it. What I do know is that every time I hear that song I'm instantly in a better mood and find myself online looking for travel deals :) But, sometimes the closest place to a vacation I can get is the bathtub and this COCONUT MILK SOAK. It's a pretty decadent blend of coconut milk, coconut water, and coconut extract that smells fantastic and feels great. It may not be as fun as a tropical getaway, but it is pretty relaxing and your skin will feel amazing.
