

ARTIPHANY

SPRING / SUMMER 2021

ABOUT THE ARTIST

«Every single product that Artiphany offers is the result of a long, sustained effort to map the territory of my imagination.

The four points of my compass were hope, luck, dedication, and love. My instrument has been, for the most part, a reliable guide to instruct me about which way to go along this course.

Though I deviated more than once from my own true north, none of these mistakes has proved fatal.

So here we are. Have your own look around these souvenirs I've brought back from my travels.»

John Littleboy is the artist behind all things Artiphany. He is a graduate of Stanford University, a long time resident of Palo Alto, California, and currently trying out a life as a peripatetic painter.

MUSEUM COLLECTION

Artiphany has taken some of the greatest masterpieces in the history of art and given them a distinctively canine (or feline or bovine) twist. Present in this artful array are Vincent Van Dogh, Henri Catisse, Labrador Dali, Gustav Klipped and Edvard Moonch, all of whom will be depicted in an upcoming children's book.

Our museum collection is also available bundled in two different boxed note sets. See our boxed note page for more details.

BIFOLD & TRIFOLD

At Artiphany, we think of a greeting card as a tiny one act play performed on paper. The cover of the closed card introduces the characters and the theme. Open the envelope and the play begins.

We give the finale and extra boost with a protracted pictorial conclusion and a clever dénouement.

BD-015 - Keep it Quiet

As every Artiphany product begins as a drawing on paper, it follows that the bulk of our collection are greeting cards.

Mr. Littleboy has described the "tantalizing void" of a blank sheet of paper as the point of transition between his imagination and the idea made real.

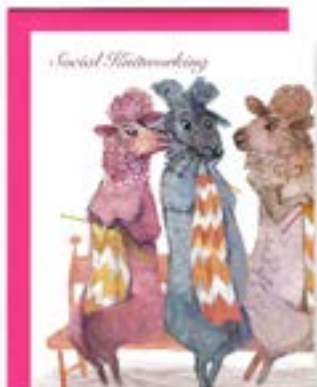

These tri-folds are an extended enactment of one of his paper entertainments.
