DON'T TRASH 'EM, SMASH 'EM! UTAHNS INVITED TO BRING OLD JACK-O-LANTERNS TO 2nd-ANNUAL PUMPKIN DESTRUCTION DAYS at CORNBELLY'S THIS WEEKEND.

WHAT

It'll be a smash'em, bash'em kind of closing weekend at Cornbelly's at Thanksgiving Point where Utahns will be invited November 1-2 to assist in the destruction of thousands of pumpkins & jack-o-lanterns! For those who wonder what to do with old pumpkins once Halloween has come and gone, this is the chance to smash 'em instead of trash 'em! Guests are invited to go green and bring their used pumpkins for ooey gooey fun that will include pumpkins being dropped from a crane and helicopter, smashed by monster tractors and more.

Activities, many of which will allow guests to participate in the destruction themselves, will range from throwing pumpkins at dunk tanks and smashing them with bats to rolling them down slides and shooting them from cannons. There will also be family-friendly events such as carving demonstrations, seed spitting contests, pumpkin pie eating and more. A few of the feature events include:

Giant Candy Cannon: Just when the kiddos thought trick-or-treating was over, they'll be scrambling for the thousands of pieces of candy launched from a giant cannon.

Helicopter Bingo: Guests will place their bets on which square they think the pumpkins will land in as they are tossed from hundreds of feet above.

Monster Tractor Smash: For those who love monster trucks & tractors, they'll love seeing the monster tractor crush hundreds of pumpkins placed in its path!

Ooey Gooey Candy Drop: Pumpkins, stuffed with treats and treasures, will be dropped from a crane, leaving an ooey gooey adventure for kids who will race to find the hidden treasures & treats.

Pumpkin Blaster Contest: Guests will take aim at targets and shoot small pumpkins from cannons.

As guests participate in activities, they'll earn entries into a drawing for prizes. Prize sponsors include Thanksgiving Point, Lehi Hampton Inn, Costa Vida, Chick-fil-A American Fork, and others. More info about the Pumpkin Smash can be found by calling Cornbelly's at 801-794-FARM (3276) or visiting www.cornbellys.com.
