In the adjacent dining room, Poggi used a Rubelli cotton velvet on the Donghia chairs to pick up on the living room's pistachio accents. "We wanted to work with an accent that would harmonize in the two rooms," he says. The long dining table, by B&B Italia, is surmounted by Marcel Wanders's Sky Garden chandelier. "I chose that chandelier because of the surprise effect that it generates," says Poggi. "You can only see the moldings on the inside of the dome when you're seated, and it's the perfect combination of contemporary and traditional." A small wall-relief piece by Brazilian artist Joao Galvao punctuates the space.
