In 2022, Dulcie Nanala Napaltjarri crossed the Great Sandy Desert to Wilkinkarra, the vast salt pan also known as Lake Mackay. It was the first time Dulcie had walked on her father's Country and it was a profound experience that transformed her art.

Dulcie's paintings channel the rich palette and rugged textures of the desert home of her ancestors. She paints the clay pans, sandhills and life-giving water holes of her Tjukurrpa (dreaming) to share and celebrate her people's culture and Country.

Warlayrri Artists and Aboriginal Contemporary are proud to bring Dulcie's first solo show to Sydney; a unique body of works that includes two stunning triptychs.

We invite you to meet Dulcie at the opening of MAMAKU TJUKURR – My father's place on Saturday 18 May. Please join us to welcome her to Sydney and hear her talk about her work and her Country at 3pm.
