

LAST TANGO IN PRINCETON

House is smiling more now that he's with Cuddy: "I think I pulled a muscle on one side of my face because I'm just so out of training," says Laurie

HOUSE AND CUDDY
ARE FINALLY TOGETHER—BUT WHO'S LEADING WHOM IN THEIR COMPLICATED
LOVE DANCE?

By David Hochman

FIRST THE KISS AND NOW THIS! It's wedding day and House and Cuddy are shaking booty on the dance floor. She's in a slinky backless gown. He's in a tuxedo (and sneakers, naturally) and they're talking guest lists and chocolate fountains. For reals, as House likes to say. Fox would kill us if we spilled too much about this upcoming episode but, OK, House and Cuddy aren't the ones tying the knot just yet. Of course, the way their romance is plowing ahead after six seasons of platonic simmer, it might be wise to keep your Monday nights free just in case.

So far this season, House (Hugh Laurie) and Cuddy (Lisa Edelstein) have cuddled, snuggled, snogged, fondled like 10th graders and played a hot round of sexy Boggle (I LOBE YOU? Really, House?).

Photograph by Justin Stephens