CARE & CLEANING:

Semi-aniline leathers are simple to maintain. Dust regularly or vacuum with a soft bristle attachment.

Spilled liquids should be removed immediately by dabbing with a cloth (do not rub). If additional cleaning is required, apply soapy water with a damp cloth and then rinse by wiping down with clear water. Do not use commercial cleaning agents. For difficult stains, it is always best to contact a specialist as damage may occur due to improper cleaning.

For optimum performance and longevity, do not place your leather furniture within twelve inches of a heating source or in sustained direct sunlight.

A NOTE ON SOUTH AMERICAN LEATHERS:

Certain leathers are produced on Brahma hides from South America. These hides are large and durable, and may include natural hump holes near the neck.
