About Hale Barrister Bookcases

Factory Assembled as Freestanding Units for Quality Assurance the Old-fashioned Way.

Based in upstate New York, Hale Manufacturing Company has been in the wood furniture business for over 100 years. In 1907, Mr. F. E. Hale, a designer of sectional bookcases, formed F. E. Hale Mfg. Co. to produce and market his creations. More than a century later, we still pride ourselves in being specialists in the design and manufacture of solid wood and fine-wood veneer Barrister style sectional bookcases. The Hale family heritage continues with heirloom quality bookcases, built to last for generations, available directly from our factory in New York at HaleBookcasesDirect.com

Hale Manufacturing Company is proud to employ second-, third- and even fourth-generation wood crafts people. Today, much of the work is done by automated machine tools, but all wood selection, joinery and finishing is still done with great care by our skilled artisans.

Mix, Match and Stack to Create Your Own Storage Solution.

Fully customizable, modular storage solution. Hale Bookcases are cleverly designed with an interlocking system for solid, stable stacking. Stack the shelf sections together and "build" the perfect bookcase for your space. No assembly or tools required!

The fully assembled solid wood shelf sections securely stack together with an interlocking system. No tools required – simply unpack and stack the shelf sections in any combination. Easily add more shelf sections as your library grows. Shelf sections are placed on a leg or box base and finish with a crown on top.

Hale Bookcases are hand made in the USA using sustainably sourced North American hardwoods.
