Our story

Award-winning flavours and positive social change, that's us at Harry Specters. Mona, Shaz and their son Ash, who is autistic, are behind this social enterprise. Dedicated to crafting the most delicious chocolates that create employment for autistic people.

Every lovingly handcrafted bar and chocolate helps improve the lives of autistic people.

All our chocolates are handcrafted with only one thought in mind – giving you an experience to remember! We use only the finest-grade chocolate, ethically sourced from sustainably grown cocoa. From the dairy cream to the succulent fruits used in our selections, all ingredients are fresh and locally sourced where possible.

10 reasons to buy from us

Award-winning

The Chocolates you will be eating were supplied by Harry Specters, a social enterprise based in Cambridge, which is creating employment for young people with autism.

Harry Specters was supported on both the start up and scale up Lloyds Bank Social Entrepreneurs Programmes and creates high quality, multiple award-winning chocolates, which help improve the lives and create employment opportunities for people with autism. For every £1 of profit made at Harry Specters, 60p is set aside for furthering the social aims of the business, providing social activities for their invaluable employees as well as opportunities for their personal development.
