REDEFINING FIRE

Lovinflame, Inc. is redefining fire – introducing vividly brilliant decorative flames that are wind-resistant and clean-burning, using water-soluble, non-toxic, non-flammable fuel that only ignites when reaching flash point 220°F / 104°C – achieved swiftly when paired with our patented stainless steel wick.

PROFILE

At Lovinflame, we envision a world where people can safely appreciate the cozy elegance of a flickering flame, while also keeping peace of mind. It literally took a rocket scientist ten long years to tinker with the intrinsic mechanisms of fire and land on a solution where we wouldn't need to sacrifice health and safety to enjoy the comforting glow of fire.

We continue innovating and redefining what fire – and ambience – can be. Our mission is to redefine ambience, and with the reception we've received from industry leaders and design influencers, we're primed for a hot year ahead.
