MANE ATTRACTION

We've all been there: You work tirelessly to get your do just right only to have a bulky beanie steal the spotlight. Hairstylist Giselle Modeste crafted four looks that make your accents just that—accessories. Plus, check out our product guide for maintaining healthy tresses during the cold season.

Morning Lavender

"Nadine" boater hat, $29, morninglavender.com. Silk

Philosophy "Iness" skinny scarf, $60, silkphilosophy.com.

BCBGeneration turtleneck sweater, $78, bcbgeneration.com.

POUF PLAY

A chunky knit skully and pigtails make for the perfect pairing, since loose or low styles are pretty much the only ones that will work with this type of hat. Modeste parted the hair, then slicked the two sections to the nape of the neck and secured each pony right below the ear. After adding ties to the ends of each pigtail, she lightly pulled the midsections apart for a bubble effect that mimics the pom-pom up top.

Asos "Cable Pom" beanie, $19, asos.com.
Mari Tome Jewelry Design "Cornered" earrings, $175, maritome.com. French Connection "Hofmann Stitch" bomber jacket, $198, and "Manhattan Lace" shirt, $198, usa.frenchconnection.com.

ROCK BAND

Curly girls undoubtedly have it the hardest when it comes to winter gear. If you're not ready to forgo a fierce fro for a hat, try a turban. This one (right) is wide enough to keep your ears warm without compromising the big, carefree curls up top, and it's lined with wire that can be shaped around any do. Pop the turban on around a pineapple or faux hawk and it'll pull double duty to keep edges smooth and preserve your style.

Cult Gaia "Lava" turband, $60, cultgaia.com. Naadam "Chetwyn" silk-cashmere wrap, $99, naadamcashmere.com. 525 America shirt, $110, 525america.com. »

FURRY FAVE

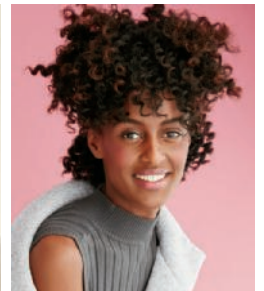

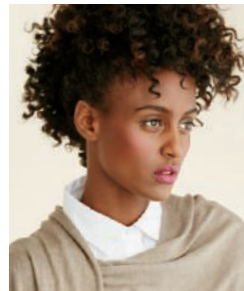

If “big hair, don’t care” is your lock philosophy, then furry earmuffs are your best friend. To avoid a crease or crinkle in your curls, style tresses with a part that lies right where the band on your muffs rest. For this half-up, half-down creation (right), Modeste actually used the band to push the hair forward into a cascade of curls. She then pinned them in place.

UGG “Wired Luxe” earmuff, $95, ugg.com. Old Navy tunic jacket, $40, oldnavy.com. RD Style sweater, $65, rdstyle.com.

A FASHIONABLE ENTRANCE

To ensure that your look stays intact once you’re indoors, pick a style that works with your accessories. Something slicked back or twisted under can easily translate into a cute wave or polished pony. You can even add a colorful bandanna underneath your wool fedora to reduce strand breakage.
