

YOUR GUIDE TO EVERYTHING LAS VEGAS

lasvegas[®]

MAGAZINE

FEBRUARY 14, 2016

Andiamo Italian
Steakhouse
Celebrity Sightings and Top-Notch Dining

Make It Marula

Oils have been all the craze in recent years: argan, jojoba, coconut, macadamia and, now, marula oil. It's harvested from the nut of the marula tree, which is native to Africa. The oil is high in fatty acids and antioxidants that assist in neutralizing free radicals, in cell renewal and in environment protection. It also hydrates, nourishes and heals the skin—ideal for types from dry to oily. It's even good for sensitive skin, as it is fast-absorbing and light with antimicrobial properties. For the hair, marula oil hydrates, repairs and moisturizes without heaviness. This seemingly miracle oil is sneaking into products everywhere, including hand soap and makeup, so it won't be hard to give it a try! —Sarah Redzikowski

1 DRUNK ELEPHANT UMBRA SHEER PHYSICAL DEFENSE SPF 30 ($38), DrunkElephant.com

2 MARULA PURE MARULA EYE CREAM ($65), Marula.com

3 DRUNK ELEPHANT PEKEE BAR ($28) AND JUJU BAR ($28), DrunkElephant.com

4 CIATÉ MARULA CUTICLE OIL ($19), Sephora at Miracle Mile Shops at Planet Hollywood Resort

5 ACURE FACIAL MARULA OIL ($15.99), AcureOrganics.com

6 PAUL MITCHELL MARULA OIL RARE OIL REPLENISHING SHAMPOO ($25) AND CONDITIONER ($26), Ulta Beauty at Downtown Summerlin

7 MARULA PURE MARULA FACIAL OIL ($78), Marula.com

8 LANCER INTENSIVE NIGHT TREATMENT ($155), Neiman Marcus at Fashion Show

