

Jessie Rose

Hey Everyone.. I hope you are all well! Things have been pretty flat out here as we come up to the end of the year, being self employed means work doesn't really stop (as I'm sure many of you can relate to..) It sure can be hard putting in the long hours, but it's great to be able to do what I love and to use my art to make a difference!

So we are into week 6 already @inspire.. (Crazy!!) which means our End of Term Exhibition is just around the corner..

We have also been busy getting new products at the Jessie Rose Boutique in time for Christmas.. I've added a few things to this newsletter if you are interested to check them out.

And on a personal note.. I just wanted to say, if anyone is thinking they want to make changes in life but aren't sure they can do it - I've just hit 1 year and 7 months free from alcohol, which is Huge for me. It hasn't been easy, but it's definitely been worth it. I know it sounds cliché, but honestly - if I can do that, well, just know that you can also do anything you set your mind to!

More in stock! 'The Forever Calendar'

Otherwise known as a 'perpetual calendar' this 'Forever Calendar' has no days of the week or year... so it can be used forever, hence the name! This special calendar is a tangible reminder, something to keep for always and a way to mark those special memories of life, love and loss.

JESSIE ROSE - THE COFFIN PAINTER NZ

I've started painting my unisex casket design 'Reflections' on a waxed pine casket with rope handles.. (I used to paint this on a Rimu stained pine casket) I think the rope handles look great and suit the design.. hope you think so too!

A massive THANK YOU to our Term 4 Sponsors... these guys are awesome local businesses (plus a personal sponsor that wanted to be kept anonymous) who have sponsored individuals living in some form of hardship to attend Inspire for a term ♥
