SYS-DX is a full system detox that helps open the elimination routes to facilitate proper drainage and flow of toxic buildup from various organs. Many of the ingredients help increase vital energy by boosting energy production, particularly within the ATP and cAMP systems. By providing more energy and detoxing the system, the body can recover and recuperate from the stresses of living in a polluted environment and sustain healthy functions in the long term.

This Advanced Micro Blend solution has a nano-suspension of the individual ingredients, allowing them to work at much lower concentrations and be absorbed much faster within the body. The nano solution creates a highly bioavailable mix of ingredients that works on a molecular level and an energetic level. Many of these ingredients are used by traditional medicine systems to help heal emotions that drain our energies, such as guilt, fear, indecision, despair, and unhappiness. And, amazingly, each one is backed by scientific data that shows it works within our bodies to help heal and repair.
