MEET OUR TRIBES

Huggas live high up in bamboo trees, and of all the Tinc tribes, they are one of the most unique looking, with their fluffy green fur and huge hands. Huggas got their name from their love of hugging! They can come in different shapes; they are very easy-going and love nothing more than hugging a problem away!

THE HUGGAS

Mallos live on soft, grassy islands in the sky. They always help one another to care for their island village. They love spending time with friends and are filled with so much happiness they are practically weightless and move around by floating. They are soft, gentle creatures with big hearts.

THE MALLOS

Kronks are inventors; they are incredible at making weird and wonderful mechanical things from pieces of day-to-day scrap. They enjoy their own company and are never happier than when thinking and creating something new. The Kronk team has been expanding rapidly over the last couple of years and is set to get even bigger! With new characters and shapes joining this tribe, these are ones to keep an eye on!

THE KRONKS

Tonkins live under the sea and are recognised easily by their jellyfish-like bodies. They are very adventurous and love letting the current carry them to exciting new places. The Tonkins are well-loved amongst fun-loving Tinc fans. They are the tribe that will turn heads in the playground with their eye-catching big blue eyes and unique school style.

THE TONKINS

The Ojays are a tough bunch, as they live in the high heat of the volcanic islands and need protection from the sun, but on the inside, they are very laid back with the kindest hearts. They are a variety of shapes; they love wearing sunglasses and swimming in the waters that appear around their volcanic lands. This orange tribe loves having fun socialising and hanging out together, chilling.

THE OJAYS

The Ooloos are eccentric in character and are a tribe of wizards who live on islands with tall towers of water and ice hidden amongst the clouds. They often worry their island homes never stay in one place and sometimes bounce around from cloud to cloud without warning! They are a variety of shapes and sizes and love adding a bit of magic to the day.
