UPSTATE

upstate reinvigorates traditional hand dye processes with modern design sensibilities. the pieces of each collection are elevated and effortless, using shapes and materials which transition seamlessly from a day in nature to a night in the city. upstate is made for the spirited, confident and adventurous women of the world.

each season, owner and designer, kalen kaminski, spends time in her studio developing new dye techniques and color palettes. this season was inspired by "the ghost nebula" spanning 200 light years from earth, incorporating the colors and mood of red, black, grey, deep purple as well as the traditional indigo color of shibori. while researching, kaminski discovered keleidescopes that used symmetrical hexagonal lighting and reinterpreted these designs on to fabric thus, the fw 2016, "through the looking glass" collection was born.
