LODDINGTON

Owlet Fruit Juice, established in 1986, is an award-winning range of juices made from fruit grown, pressed and bottled in the heart of the Kent countryside.

Loddington farm is a fifth-generation, family run business that is changing the way produce is grown. It's not conventional farming, it's not 'organic' farming, it's farming with nature instead of chemicals to produce more nutritious, more environmentally-friendly fruit for the juices.

Press is powered by a wind turbine, pulp is fed to livestock to reduce waste, juices are packaged in recyclable glass bottles and deliveries are made in a zero-emission van.

The majority of fruit is grown using farming principles that enhance the soil, encourage wildlife and capture carbon from the atmosphere.

No additives, no preservatives and no added sugar. Never from concentrate. Vegan-friendly and gluten-free.

Juices are made from fruit grown here on the farm, and then pressed and bottled on-site to reduce our carbon footprint.
