

INSIDE

Jackson Browne... the gear, memories of many of the greatest artists of our time, and a killer band touring now.

12

Gabriel Currie and Echopark Guitars...

Gabriel is on a hot roll, building a new electric for Jackson Browne, new pickups, and some very excellent Echopark amplifiers!

20

A visit with Jim Campilongo

and a stellar new album!

21

Bill Nash's excellent S-63 Stratocaster - we score another Nash that is simply as good as it gets.

Bill Nash Interview - the secret to building great guitars, and the new Nash NGDP fuzz.

24

Dr. Z MAZ38...

We score a MAZ38 cheap and oh, now we remember how great this amplifier really is.

Dr. Z on building exceptional amps, the challenges and his favorite.

the ToneQuest

The Player's Guide to Ultimate Tone

$15.00 US, Jul-Aug 2015/Vol.16 NO.9-10

Report™

Jackson Browne

So what I do, more than play any instrument - I mean, I love to play - but more than that I write songs. Songs that are about living, about what it's like to be going through all the things that people go through in life. —Jackson Browne

Welcome to the Jackson Browne issue. We usually offer some insights into the subject of our introspection in these pages, but in Jackson's case we have chosen to open with lyrics that are far better conceived than any casual observations we might make. So get comfortable, settle in and enjoy the ride...

I have an Asher S- Custom that I love, with two Arcane P90s, and I'm playing that on some songs on this tour. Bill Asher has made me about four guitars, all different, but he's also worked on just about every guitar I own, and breathed life into many an old Gibson or Martin that needed repair. He's the guy who learned to install the Trance Audio system I use in my acoustics better than anyone, and without him I wouldn't have the number or variety of guitars I use.

photo: Anjali Ramnandanlal

I love my Nash Tele, even though I don't even have it out here on the road. It makes me play in ways I haven't played before.

I have a guitar made by Flip Scipio called

