

Supply List: Bokeh-The Airbrush Way! with Aimee Croteau

- Canson XL Recycled Bristol, 9" x 12", Bright White, 96lb
- Dual action airbrush with air compressor
- Holbein Aeroflash Liquid Acrylics:
  - Opaque Black
  - Opaque Compose Blue
  - Opaque Scarlet OR Opaque Magenta
    - Opaque Magenta can be found here* (if you cannot find/don't have Opaque Scarlet)
  - Yellow
- P.H. Doc. Martin's Bombay India Inks:
  - Green
  - Grass Green
  - Violet
- Daler Rowney Acrylic Ink:
  - White
- Airbrush cleaning pot
- Small syringe/eyedropper (if your airbrush did not come with one - for rinsing out the airbrush between colors)
- Small cup of clean water (for rinsing out airbrushes between colors)
- HB pencil or pen (for transferring line drawing)
- Masking tape (to tape down drawing)
- Winsor & Newton masking fluid (tinted or colored)
- Size 4 or smaller paintbrush (for applying masking fluid)
- Graphite transfer paper
- Pencil sharpener
- Extra sheet of printer paper (to test colors and shield artwork in between coats)
- Circle templates, with circles of various sizes (for creating the bokeh)
- Drafting brush (optional)
- All pencils listed below sharpened before class:

Caran d'Ache Luminance:

Ultramarine Pink	Purplish Red
Genuine Cobalt Blue	Burnt Ochre
Crimson Aubergine	Anthraquinoid Pink
Manganese Violet	Cobalt Green
White	Bismuth Yellow
Raw Umber	Violet Brown
Dark English Green	Lemon Yellow
Black	Moss Green
Olive Brown	Ultramarine Violet
Yellow Ochre	Violet

PLEASE NOTE:

-- In Aimee's search, she also found Holbein Fluid Acrylics, which look similar, but are not intended for use in an airbrush. Ensure you do not purchase Holbein Fluid Acrylics.

-- It is also recommended you avoid all of the Opaque Pearl colors. They look pretty, but they're so thick, Aimee hasn't been able to use them for longer than a few minutes before the airbrush clogs. Opaque Pearl colors are not on the supply list for this workshop, but just as a heads up.

*Links are provided for your reference. It is not a requirement to purchase through Amazon. As an Amazon Affiliate, we may benefit from qualifying sales.