

flower magazine | WINTER 2009

enriching your life through flowers

Blooms for Brides

$4.99 | www.flowermag.com

$4.99US/CAN

94 >

0 71896 48211 9

Photographer Jessica Riehl's Flower Travels
Zest for Life by Ryan Gainey
New York City's Flower Vigilante
Silver Jubilee Bouquets to Art in San Francisco
+ flowers made of clay

BELOW: A web of rose stems studded with plucked rose buds echoes the simple, sophisticated lines of Angel Sanchez's silk, modern lace, modified A-line gown. Delicate petal embroidery scatters across the tulle bodice like petals showering a new bride and groom. In the bouquet, Sahara and Amnesia roses, David Austin 'Juliet' garden roses, peachy cream Cyranthus, spray roses, and lavender mini Cymbidium orchids complement each other's subtle color variations. The lone rose in her hair completes Jen's look. (18K white gold diamond drop earrings, $5,250, from Wallace-Burke; Chair at right from BeeLine Home by Bunny Williams, available at Mary Evelyn)

RIGHT: Arrangements of white nerines, snowberry, hydrangea, plumosa fern, clematis vine, English ivy, Leucothoe, and nandina enclose the rose petal path, as Lisa tiptoes through the hidden garden wearing the "Janis" gown by Claire Pettibone. Floral, antique cotton lace flows from stone cotton appliqué flowers at the scoop neckline, and a gardenia in our bride's hair fits the youthful styling. (18K white gold canary diamond and diamond pendant, $6,100, from Wallace-Burke; antique wooden columns from Interiors at Pepper Place)

