

KAT Atlantis Doubleshot Samples

Recently, Keyreative sent us doubleshot samples for KAT Atlantis. While we are for the most part very pleased and excited about these samples, we are still continuously working with Keyreative to improve these samples. Communication between ourselves and Keyreative has never been better, and we are extremely optimistic about the future of Atlantis and other KAT sets.

In this document we will go over the samples sent, issues found, and some comparisons with their dyesub caps. Some things to note when going through these samples:

- There will be slight color variations between the keycaps due to using a different plastic blend in order to make samples as quickly as possible.
- R1 (F-row) might show a small line in the front of the keycap. This is being addressed and can be fixed by adjusting the injection process.

Please note that these are samples, and we will continue to provide feedback to Keyreative on ways to improve the keycaps.

Greek Alphas - Sample

Korean Alphas - Sample

Katakanas - Sample

Alternate Alphas - Sample

Colevrak Kit - Sample

Alphas Kit - Sample

Assorted Text Mods - Sample

Assorted Icon Mods - Sample

Specific Notes:

- All 8 spacebars we have received have been tested and function without issues.
- Thickness varies from 2.01mm to 2.05mm
- New stem
- Profile seems identical to previous sets
- Legends seem a bit thicker than in previous sets
- These doubleshot samples have slightly more texture than the smooth caps found in dyesub KAT sets

Profile comparison of samples vs KAT Eternal (Dyesub set)

Top Down Atlantis Samples vs KAT Eternal

Below are examples of feedback we have given to Keyreative

Smudging around the letter 'N' on alternate alphas kit

Cracked keycap right at the semicolon

Dents and smudges

Visible scratches

Jagged legends

Some dotted lines were changed to solid lines

Misc Notes

- Katakana and Alphas Kit are missing barred F and J
- Colevrak kit missing barred A and H

All notes/issues found in this document have been handed off to keyreative.
