José Cori

Without a concrete plan, everything is defined by improvising. Painting and drawing that cross the border between figuration and abstraction, José Cori brings nature, characters and places to the plane with an apparent interference that gives the sensation of appearing in an ambivalent atmosphere. Looking at it from the front provokes a suggestive opening of consciousness, making us arrive -through a new path- to the purpose of things. From his constant search and sustained creation in the composition of elements, his autonomous and characteristic proposal is born.

Sin un plan concreto, todo lo define improvisando. De pintura y dibujo que recorren la frontera entre la figuración y la abstracción, trae al plano la naturaleza, personajes y lugares con una aparente interferencia que da la sensación de aparición entre una atmósfera ambivalente. Al mirarlo de frente provoca una sugerente apertura de conciencia, haciéndonos llegar -por medio de un nuevo camino- a la finalidad de las cosas. De su constante búsqueda y creación sostenida en la composición de elementos, nace su propuesta autónoma y característica.

Isidora Villarino H.

In the work of Isidora Villarino, the city has a fundamental place, thus, architecture and urban space are a constant that, mainly through drawing and installation, transport us to common places, places that we have traveled many times without seeing. In this way, reality -one that we almost never notice- from the beginning has been the starting point of his work.
