A note about our packaging: This is the first time you are seeing plastic. We receive this product from our manufacturer this way, but choose to reuse the bag in order to limit our own waste. However, this plastic is biodegradable with the use of "Controlled-Life" technology. This means your bag will break down over time as it interacts with sunlight, air, and water. It is also HDPE recyclable. We recommend only composting with commercial compost services as back yard composts will not break down your bag fast enough. As with all of our packaging products, please reuse and recycle in order to limit waste.
