

Instructions, Care and Maintenance of your Original Fire Reflector by MC Ranch Overland Inc.

Please use your Original Fire Reflector for its intended purpose, as a heat and light reflector only.

Please do not allow people, especially children, to touch the panels when in use.

To unfold your Original Fire Reflector: Separate the folded panels allowing the centre hinge to fully rotate open. Note that the staking tabs should always be facing inward toward the intended fire location. The staking tabs are an optional element for added stability in windy or unstable ground conditions. (Stakes are not included.)

Position your Original Fire Reflector in a parabolic shape around your campfire or cooking device, making sure the cooking device or the campfire flames do not directly touch the reflector surfaces.

It is recommended to position your Original Fire Reflector proportionately distanced away from the flame or heat source at a 1:1 ratio. Flames should never touch your Original Fire Reflector. This relationship and clearance should be monitored during use and adjusted as necessary.

When handling the Original Fire Reflector after use, always allow the aluminum panels to cool entirely before touching and especially before storing back inside the custom-made carrying case.

Folding directions after use: Please note, the panels only fold in one direction. Once the panels are cool, stand within the arc and hold the outermost handles. Lift and allow the centre hinge to come towards you and fold the outer panels together with the staking tabs toward the inside, tucking in under the stacked panels. Store the neatly stacked panels inside the carrying case with the tabs down into the reinforced bottom of the carrying case.

When transporting your Original Fire Reflector inside any vehicle always safely secure it in place.

Care: Your Original Fire Reflector is made entirely of untreated aluminum. Keep your Original Fire Reflector as clean and dry as possible and wipe off the surfaces prior to storing to prevent corrosion and preserve the finish.

Maintenance: To clean your Original Fire Reflector use standard strength dish soap, thoroughly cover in suds and scrub with a non-metal scrub brush in the direction of the orbital finish. Rinse and dry completely before placing back into the custom-made carrying case.

Warning: Do not use flammable lubricants on the hinge joints.

Before use ensure you read the instructions, care and maintenance information on the other side of the page:
