UNHCR, the UN Refugee Agency, is calling upon the private sector and donors to support refugees by joining the MADE51 pledge, which will launch at the Global Refugee Forum in Geneva, Switzerland on 13 December 2023.

The MADE51 pledge urges the private sector to utilize their supply chain and core business strengths to bring positive and lasting impact for refugees. The pledge will collate the commitments of private sector companies, donors, and MADE51 social enterprise partners to drive economic inclusion of refugees in the artisan sector. The MADE51 pledge is also embedded in the UNHCR Mega Pledge on Economic Inclusion and Social Protection.

Through collective action, we aim to bring together commitments totalling:

- 15 million USD in refugee-made product orders, enabling refugees to earn income through craft
- 5 million USD in pro-bono support to drive greater market access for refugee-made products
- 9 million USD in funding to help MADE51 operate and reach new countries and artisan groups

If this commitment is realized and implemented by 2027, the expected outcome is:

- 15,000 refugees earning income working in Fair Trade conditions with social enterprises in their host countries
- 60,000 artisan beneficiaries supported through increased household income
- Over 4 million people and 50,000 new customers reached through products and associated stories, helping promote acceptance and public support for forcibly displaced people
