Mural Commissions

About Adriana Jaros

Adriana Jaros is a multidisciplinary artist originally from Caracas, Venezuela and now based in London. She is passionate about colour, materials and the visual language as a means to connect by imagining worlds or objects that can become experiences and moments of joy.

As a child, she would spend time at her grandmother's haberdashery in Venezuela – a place filled with bright colours and materials. Inspired by her time spent there, she creates joyful, nostalgic work that draws on architecture, identity and experience.

Her work examines the interaction of colour and spaces, exploring how these can elevate our senses and in turn, create meaningful visual experiences.

Mural Commissions

In addition to her multidisciplinary works, Adriana also creates bold, colourful murals which see her signature style expanded into greater spaces, integrating her works into their environment to create captivating murals.

Murals are an excellent way to transform your wall space, and commissioning a mural means Adriana can create something bespoke to you and your space.

From large-scale murals featuring across each wall within a room, to single walls, or touches across a variety of spaces, Adriana can respond to your brief, creating ideas and sketches which perfectly suit you, before creating the mural itself.

The Process

Developing a mural is a collaborative process, making sure Adriana can create something which not only reflects her style, but also perfectly suits your space and its intended use.

Following an initial consultation call to broadly discuss space, size, style and pricing, commissioning a mural involves the following:

Site Visit: Adriana will visit the site to see the space and discuss the concept

Moodboard: Adriana will develop a moodboard of ideas, which incorporates ideas discussed during the site visit

Sketch/Draft: Adriana will develop an initial stage sketch of the mural for review and feedback

Revised Sketches: Following feedback received, revised sketches will be shared for final review and sign off

Mural Painting: Adriana to paint the mural on site, with all necessary prep, including wall priming and protected flooring, to be completed in advance
