EXT. SUBURBAN NEIGHBORHOOD -- DAY

Close on: A toy RACE CAR. A small hand enters frame and guides the car along.

LITTLE BOY (O.S.)
Broom-Broom...

Widen to reveal a SMALL BOY (6) cute as a button, playing with his matchbox cars on the sidewalk of an upscale suburban neighborhood.

A monstrous black BMW approaches. The vanity plate reads: BIG DOG.

INT. BLACK BMW -- THAT MOMENT

The driver is MILES SELNICK (36), a smug man in executive attire. His eyes shielded by five hundred dollar sunglasses.

Miles notices the little boy playing on the sidewalk and grins.

EXT. SUBURBAN NEIGHBORHOOD -- CONTINUOUS

One of the little boy's toy cars sits alone on the sidewalk.

Miles turns into his driveway, making an extra effort to run it over the toy car. CRUNCH!

He steps out of his convertible with a smirk.

The little boy stares down at his smashed toy car. Tears streaming from his eyes.

MILES
Sorry kid. Gotta make room for the big boys.

Miles notices a smudge on the hood of his shiny car. He wipes it away and skips off toward his house.

The little boy looks up as a giant shadow looms overhead.

INT. MILES HOUSE -- CONTINUOUS

Miles enters his house with a self-satisfied smile.

He sets his briefcase down by the door and starts sifting through his mail.

BOOM! A THUNDEROUS SOUND SHAKES THE VERY FOUNDATION OF THE HOUSE! MILES IS BARELY ABLE TO MAINTAIN HIS FOOTING.

The house settles and goes silent. Miles eyes dart around the room, all color drained from his face. What was that!?

The timid man cautiously peeks out the front door.

EXT. SUBURBAN NEIGHBORHOOD -- CONTINUOUS

The little boy stands on the sidewalk, staring off, in awe of what he just saw.

A lose tire rolls across frame.

Miles steps outside and follows the boy's stare to the driveway. His face drops.

Miles shiny black BMW has been smashed flat like a pancake.

The little boy looks at Miles and grins ear to ear.

SMASH TO BLACK

BOOM! A title graphic drops into frame cracking the ground around it --
