Alberto,

Thanks for sending this. Even though we may disagree on some things, I think we'd both agree that we care a lot for one another. I hope that never changes. I have loved you for years now and don't see that changing. I appreciate this email very much. I will let you know what I find as I start my search and I will keep you updated on my hip. Now I'm crying again! But these tears are out of relief that we will still have a relationship and communicate. I wish you all the success and happiness in the world. Lots of love, Kara
