Hope

A book to help children build resilience and assist those recovering from and/or living in family violence situations.

Jonathon's home was not a happy one. Sometimes there was shouting and sometimes there were tears. But hope soon arrived when Auntie Edie came to stay. She brought with her joy, happiness, a cat called Magic and the wonderful possibilities of hope.

This book is dedicated to all those children who feel sad right now. As Jonathon knows, there is always hope that things might change.

The development of this book was supported by family violence experts. Discussion Questions and a Safety Plan are included.

About Jayneen Sanders

Jayneen Sanders (aka Jay Dale) is an experienced early years educator, author, publisher and blogger.

Jayneen writes children's books on Body Safety, consent, gender equality, respectful relationships, and social and emotional intelligence. She believes empowering children from an early age makes for empowered teenagers and adults.

Jayneen is Lead Author for the children's literacy series Engage Literacy published by Capstone, and has written over 120 titles in that series. Jayneen is importantly a mother of three daughters and has always advocated for their empowerment.

Jayneen's ongoing passion for the safety and empowerment of children continues today with new manuscripts and free-to-download resources always in the wings.

Her work can be found at www.e2epublishing.info

"Jayneen Sanders' books do a wonderful job of helping parents to teach their children body safety and confidence in their own intuition. It's sometimes not easy to talk about or teach these things, but it is very necessary living in the world we do.

This is where Jayneen comes in... with sensitivity, lightness and wisdom she opens up these important conversations and helps children better understand their feelings, their bodies, their boundaries and what being safe feels like.

Jayneen is an excellent writer."
