Before Reading

Don’t guess! If you don’t know a word in the story, check it in the story’s glossary or a simple dictionary.

Story Glossary

bartender: a person who mixes and serves drinks at a pub.

dig through: to search inside something.

dress shirt: a formal, usually white, man’s shirt.

ID (Identification Card): a card with your photo, name and other information about you.

jerk up: to move with a sudden short movement.

landlord: an owner of an apartment or house.

lingering: remaining and still not disappearing.

rack: an object with hooks for hanging things on.

slide off: to remove something easily.

slip on: to put clothes on quickly and easily.

swap: to replace something with something else.

trade: to give something to someone and receive something in return.
Fill in the Blanks

Practice the new words. Fill in the blanks with the right word or expression from the list on the previous page.

1. Can you hang your coat on the coat _____________?

2. There is a problem with the roof. Call the _____________.

3. Janet _____________ her pockets to find her keys.

4. A _____________ is more formal than a t-shirt.

5. His head _____________ as soon as he hears his name.

6. She left, but her perfume still _____________ in the room.

7. The policeman asked to see my _____________.

8. It is hot, so Bob _____________ his jacket.

9. Let's _____________ places.

10. The _____________ fills my glass fully.

11. He _____________ lands for money.
Andrew walks out of his meeting, completely exhausted. After three long days of negotiating, he has finally worked out a deal that is sure to get him a promotion. Despite the fact that he has an early flight back to New York in the morning, Andrew decides to have a few drinks at the pub across the street. He has been in London for three days and has not seen any of the city. He cannot leave without at least visiting a pub, he thinks.

He quickly crosses the street and walks through the blue door of the pub. He notices a coat rack next to the door and carefully hangs his jacket from one of the hooks. Andrew does not really consider it to be his jacket though. It was his father’s jacket, but it was passed down to Andrew after his father died last year. Almost every memory Andrew has of his dad involves him wearing the dark red coat.
Andrew walks to the bar and orders a drink. After he has finished, the bartender asks if he wants another drink. Andrew checks his watch and sees his plane is leaving in five hours and decides he needs to go. He regrets picking a flight so early in the morning, but knows he will be able to sleep on the plane. He pays for his drink, grabs his jacket, and leaves.

It has gotten much colder outside since Andrew went into the pub, so he slips his jacket on. At least, he tries to slip it on. He sticks his arm in the sleeve, but the hole at the end is too small for his hand. He tries the other sleeve, but the jacket is too small to stretch across his back. He takes it off and looks at it.

It looks like a shrunken version of his jacket. He checks the pocket and finds a wallet that is definitely not his. He opens it up and sees an ID with a picture of a woman. Her name is Erin. She has dark brown hair and green eyes. A cute girl, Andrew thinks, but he does not have time to worry about that.

He returns to the bar and checks the coat rack. His coat is gone. There are three black coats and a brown one, but not a single red. He walks around the bar thinking that maybe Erin got cold and put his jacket on, but there are no women in the whole place. He stands still, trying to decide what to do. He cannot leave his dad’s jacket in London and Erin probably needs her wallet.

He types the address from her ID into his phone and sees that her house is only a few blocks away. He can stop by her place, trade jackets, and still make it back to his hotel with a little bit of time to sleep.

He walks through the night. It is getting colder and his thin dress shirt does not keep him warm. He finds the house and knocks on the door. When the door finally opens, the woman standing behind it is definitely not Erin. This woman is in her eighties with bright white hair.

“Does a woman named Erin live here?” Andrew asks her.

“No. No one lives here but me,” she answers.
Andrew digs through the pocket of the jacket and hands the old woman Erin’s ID. “Do you know her?” he asks.

“Oh yes, that’s the girl who lived here before me. I saw her when she was moving out. She’s a cute little thing, isn’t she?”

“Do you know how I can contact her? It’s kind of urgent.”

“Well I don’t really know her. I could call the landlord. See if he knows anything.”

“Well if it wouldn’t be too much trouble,” Andrew says.

“No trouble at all.” The woman invites him in and he sits on the couch. She goes into the kitchen and he hears her talking on the phone. He looks through the wallet, trying to find any clues about her, but all he finds are a couple of credit cards and a picture of her and some friends.

“She must be pretty special,” the old woman says as she walks into the living room.

Andrew’s head jerks up as he realizes he is staring at the photo.

“Oh, no. I’ve never met her,” Andrew says.

The woman looks suspicious but hands him a piece of paper. “The landlord says he doesn’t know how to contact her but he did give me the name of a club she likes to go to. I don’t know if it’ll help.”

Andrew types the address written on the paper into his phone and sees it is a ten minute walk away. And he sees that his plane leaves in four hours. He thanks the old woman and walks as quickly as he can to the club.

Inside the club, he searches through the crowd but cannot find Erin anywhere. Nobody looks anything like her.
He steps outside the club and leans against the wall. He doesn’t even notice the woman leaning against the wall next to him wearing a red jacket that is clearly too big for her. She notices him though.

“That jacket would be warmer if you were wearing it,” she says.

Andrew looks up to see Erin staring right at him.

“Wait, you’re Erin,” he says.

“I know,” she says. “But that’s weird that you know.”

“I’ve been looking for you all night. You’re wearing my jacket. We accidentally swapped jackets at the pub earlier.”

“How did you find me?” She smiles as she says this. Her smile is a lot more beautiful in person, Andrew thinks.

“It’s a long story.”

“Wait, I was at the pub like two hours ago. Have you really been chasing me around for that long?”

“Well I was chasing the jacket, really,” Andrew says, starting to blush.

“I like a person that’s committed to his jacket,” Erin says as she slides off Andrew’s jacket and hands it to him. He slips it over his shoulders and feels Erin’s lingering warmth. “I like long stories. Want to get a cup of coffee and tell me about your night?”

“Sure.” Andrew smiles at her and knows he will miss his plane in a few hours, but he does not care.
Exercises

Vocabulary Questions

1. What does "rack" mean?
   a) an object with hooks for hanging things on
   b) a small room for storing clothes
   c) a room in a public place where people can sit and relax

2. What does "bartender" mean?
   a) a person who entertains guests at a pub
   b) a person who brings food and drinks to your table at a pub
   c) a person who mixes and serves drinks at a pub

3. What does "ID" (Identification Card) mean?
   a) a card you can use to pay
   b) a card you pay for to enter a place
   c) a card with your photo, name and other information about you

4. What does "trade" mean?
   a) to ask for something from someone in a fair way
   b) to give something to someone and receive something in return
   c) to take something from someone very quickly
4. What does "swap" mean?
   a) to replace something with something else
   b) to be confused about something
   c) to lose something that belongs to you

5. What does "dress shirt" mean?
   a) a shirt that looks like a dress
   b) a shirt you wear under a sweater
   c) a formal white shirt

6. What does "landlord" mean?
   a) a manager in a big company
   b) an owner of an apartment or house
   c) a policeman in England

7. What does "lingering" mean?
   a) warm and pleasant
   b) beautiful and pleasant
   c) remaining and still not disappearing
Expressions Questions

1. What does "slip on"

   a) to put clothes on quickly and easily
   b) to slide and fall
   c) to cover something with something else

2. What does "dig through" mean?

   a) to make a hole in something
   b) to search inside something
   c) to understand something completely

3. What does "jerk up" mean?

   a) to move with a sudden short movement
   b) to feel like a jerk
   c) to look like a jerk

4. What does "slide off" mean?

   a) to drop something quickly
   b) to remove something with effort
   c) to remove something easily
Grammar Questions

1. Andrew walks out ____________ his meeting.
   a) from
   b) off
   c) of

2. He walks ____________ the blue door of the pub.
   a) by
   b) through
   c) at

3. It was his ____________ jacket.
   a) father’s
   b) fathers
   c) fathers’

4. Andrew decides he ____________ to go.
   a) must
   b) should
   c) needs
5. He will _____________ able to sleep on the plane.
   a) have
   b) is
   c) be

6. Her smile is a lot _____________ in person.
   a) more beautiful
   b) beautifuler
   c) most beautiful
Comprehension Questions

1. What is Andrew doing in London? Where does he live?
________________________________________________________________________
________________________________________________________________________
________________________________________________________________________

2. Why is his red jacket important to him?
________________________________________________________________________
________________________________________________________________________
________________________________________________________________________

3. What happens to Andrew’s jacket?
________________________________________________________________________
________________________________________________________________________
________________________________________________________________________

4. How does he get it back?
________________________________________________________________________
________________________________________________________________________
________________________________________________________________________
Essay Questions

1. Have you ever accidently taken something that belonged to someone else? What happened? What did you do?

________________________________________________________________________
________________________________________________________________________
________________________________________________________________________
________________________________________________________________________
________________________________________________________________________
________________________________________________________________________

2. In your opinion, why does Andrew decide to miss his plane? Is it a wise choice?

________________________________________________________________________
________________________________________________________________________
________________________________________________________________________
________________________________________________________________________
________________________________________________________________________
________________________________________________________________________
Fill in the Blanks

1. Can you hang your coat on the coat rack?

2. There is a problem with the roof. Call the landlord.

3. Janet digs through her pockets to find her keys.

4. A dress shirt is more formal than a t-shirt.

5. His head jerks up as soon as he hears his name.

6. She left, but her perfume still lingering in the room.

7. The policeman asked to see my ID.

8. It is hot, so Bob slides off his jacket.

9. Let's swap places.

10. The bartender fills my glass fully.

11. He trades lands for money.
Vocabulary Questions

1. What does "rack" mean?
   a) an object with hooks for hanging things on

2. What does "bartender" mean?
   c) a person who mixes and serves drinks at a pub

3. What does "ID" (Identification Card) mean?
   c) a card with your photo, name and other information about you

4. What does "trade" mean?
   b) to give something to someone and receive something in return

4. What does "swap" mean?
   a) to replace something with something else

5. What does "dress shirt" mean?
   c) a formal white shirt

6. What does "landlord" mean?
   b) an owner of an apartment or house

7. What does "lingering" mean?
   c) remaining and still not disappearing
Expressions Questions

1. What does "slip on"
   a) to put clothes on quickly and easily

2. What does "dig through" mean?
   b) to search inside something

3. What does "jerk up" mean?
   a) to move with a sudden short movement

4. What does "slide off" mean?
   c) to remove something easily

Grammar Questions

1. Andrew walks out _____________ his meeting.
   c) of

2. He walks _____________ the blue door of the pub.
   b) through

3. It was his _____________ jacket.
   a) father’s
4. Andrew decides he ____________ to go.
   c) needs

5. He will ____________ able to sleep on the plane.
   c) be

6. Her smile is a lot ____________ in person.
   a) more beautiful

Comprehension Questions

1. What is Andrew doing in London? Where does he live?

   Andrew is in London on a business trip. He lives in New York.

2. Why is his red jacket important to him?

   It was his father’s jacket, and it was passed down to Andrew after his father died. Almost every memory Andrew has of his dad involves him wearing the dark red coat.

3. What happens to Andrew’s jacket?

   A woman named Erin accidently takes Andrew’s jacket instead of her own because the jackets are very similar.
4. How does he get it back?

Inside the jacket, Andrew finds Erin’s ID and address. He visits the house and gets some information about her favorite club. Outside visiting the club, Erin starts talking to Andrew.

Essay Questions

1. Have you ever accidently taken something that belonged to someone else? What happened? What did you do?

Answers will vary.

2. In your opinion, why does Andrew decide to miss his plane? Is it a wise choice?

Answers will vary.
• Stories and Exercises to Practice the Progressive Tenses
• Stories and Exercises to Practice the Perfect Tenses
• Stories and Exercises to Practice the Perfect Progressive Tenses
• Practice Speaking English with English Grammar Dialogues
• Talking about the Future in English
• English Short Stories for Complete Beginners
• English Modal Verbs Series
• Direct Speech and Reported Speech Workbook
• English Conditionals: a Step-by-Step Workbook
• Simple Past Stories and Exercises
• Simple Future Stories and Exercises
• Simple Present Stories and Exercises
• Simple Tenses Mixed Stories and Exercises
• English Plural Nouns, a Step-by-Step Guide
• Simple Past Tense, a Step-by-Step Guide
• English Short Stories and English Reading Practice
• Learning English and Your Human Rights
• English Grammar Test
• Figurative Language, Rules, Examples and Usage
• Dynamic Verbs (Action Verbs) and Stative Verbs
• Prepositions of Time: In, On, At
• Active and Passive Voice, Story and Exercises

Ola Zur is the creator of Really Learn English. This PDF file is part of the Love Stories for English Learners series published by Really Learn English.