Part 5: Comprehension + Analysis Written Response

17. Maggie is the wife of their neighbor, Matthew. Matthew had brought Maggie from Tennessee to be the mother of his young children. She shows kindness to Sarah by bringing her chickens and flowers for a garden. She also asks Sarah whether she is lonely and expresses sympathy when Sarah talks about being homesick. I think she is so kind to her because she can relate. Maggie also came from far away and left everything she knew, so I think she has been in Sarah's shoes and understands her.
18. Example answer for a. Mama dies after giving birth to Caleb. One effect is that Anna misses her a lot, and Caleb feels abandoned, because he can't even remember his mom. Another effect is that Papa is so sad that he never sings anymore.
19. Sarah is plain and tall, with brown hair and large hands. She is confident, capable, and friendly. She is gentle with the children and they like her immediately. She has a big heart for animals, and falls in love with the sheep and chickens on the farm. She also loves her brother back home and misses her three aunts. She loves the sea and she enjoys drawing what she sees around her. I think she is a good fit for the family because she is willing to help around the farm and she is kind and gentle to both Papa and the children.
20. In the last chapter, Caleb and Anna are exceptionally worried because Sarah rides the wagon on her own into town, and they think that maybe she is going to buy a train ticket and leave them. They wait for her return all day, fretting, but she finally returns. Sarah tells them that she won't be leaving them, and that she is there to stay. She and Papa will get married. The mood or feeling at the end of the book is one of happiness and joy, because Sarah will complete their family.
