

Life

FASHION

GLYNIS TRAILL-NASH

I'm looking for a gym bag that is also attractive...

What, bored with your old canvas carrier? While you're in update mode for your activewear wardrobe, it makes sense to find something chic to put it all in. State of Escape's popular perforated neoprene bags fit the bill, doubling as your go-anywhere, do-everything go-to (stateofescape.com), while MZ Wallace has a number of styles in its signature padded finish (mzwallace.com). The Roksanda X Lululemon collaboration has this tote in a fetching colour combo (pictured $239, lululemon.com.au). Now, pack 'n' go.

I've taken up paddleboarding for the New Year – I need a rashie!

Thankfully, for the sun-phobic among us, long sleeves are increasingly popular in swimwear. And for outdoor water sports such as paddleboarding, or just splashing about at the beach or in the pool, they are indispensable. Most establishment swim brands have them, such as Seafolly (seafolly.com.au) and Jets (jets.com.au), as do One Piece (unepiece.com), Duskie (duskii.com.au) and activewear labels including The Upside (theupside.com) and PE Nation (pe-nation.com). As logo-averse as I am, this one-piece (also available in a rashie version) from Dutch label Wallien is eye-catching (pictured, $159, wallien.com.au). And don't forget to apply sunscreen to the rest of you.

beauty.

⟨traillnashg@theaustralian.com.au⟩

THE HUMAN TOUCH.
Adidas Originals + Pharrell Williams +
Human Made NMD sneakers, $342,
net-a-porter.com