

The jolly HOUSE

Obsessed with Instagrammable
interiors? Take your cue from design stars Two Lovely Gays and their eclectic Forest Hill
home. Claudia Baillie pays them a visit

Above, Russell Whitehead and Jordan Clurce in their kitchen, dining and work space. Right, treasured items include a ceramic plate by Azem Willams and the original artwork for their Felt Tip wallpaper ussell Whitehead and Jordan Cluroe are something of a phenomenon in the interiors world. More commonly known as 2LG Studio, they are among the hardest-working designers in the industry. Having both trained as actors, Whitehead at Rada and Cluroe at the Liverpool Institute for Performing Arts, they married in 2011 and have since forged a career in interior and product design, collaborating with a host of international names from French furniture manufacturer Ligne Roset and wallpaper company Graham & Brown, to a clutch of specialist designer-makers and craftspeople.

It was while they were working on the interior design of a hotel that they first set eyes on this house. 'Our estate agent got in touch and said, "You must see

