1. Remove Foam Spacers

Remove the anti-shock foam spacers from the AutoEgg base and rails.

2. Ensure Sturdy Placement

Find a firm and level floor surface for the AutoEgg near an electrical outlet.

Avoid soft carpeted surfaces – the automatic self-cleaning function fully relies on four gravity sensors on the bottom of AutoEgg. If you have to put the AutoEgg on carpet, please place a hard mat completely underneath the unit.

3. Plug the Type-Cable into the Base

Plug the USB Type-C cable into the socket on the bottom of the AutoEgg base. DO NOT plug the AC/DC adapter into a wall outlet yet.

4. Add Litter

Add clumping litter into the litter tray. For the best tracking control and litter saving, remain in the middle of “Min” & “Max” line. Never overfill.

DO USE fast- and hard-clumping clay cat litter with small particles.

NEVER USE silica gel crystals, recycled paper, tofu, pine, corn, or wheat litter.

5. Install the Liner

Put the litter drawer liner on the waste drawer drawer.

6. Attach the Top Cover

Align the tail end of the cover with the rear slot of the base.

Press downwards and inwards at the convex buckle.

7. Power the AutoEgg On

Plug the AC/DC adapter into a wall outlet. The cleaning rake of the AutoEgg will be reset to the starting positing automatically.

Warning: Whenever you add litter or move your AutoEgg, please unplug the power plug for five seconds and then plug it back in to re-activate the automatic self-cleaning function.

Automatic Clean Cycle

The automatic self-cleaning cycle works for cats weighing from 2 kg (4.4 lb.) to 7 kg (15.4 lb.).

We recommend the use of one AutoEgg unit per cat. Each AutoEgg cannot support more than two cats.

The AutoEgg has four high-precision gravity sensors on the bottom. The gravity sensors support a weight of up to 20 kg (44 lb.) with an accuracy of 1 g (0.03 oz).

DO NOT place the AutoEgg near air vents or high-power appliances.
DO NOT drag the AutoEgg on the ground when moving.

The AutoEgg is a smart device that will not perform self-cleaning if your cat only steps inside but does not defecate. The device will automatically clean after 5 minutes after detecting the presence of 5+ g (0.17 oz) of excretion.

In Automatic mode, the AutoEgg will self-clean every day at 3:00 A.M., 9:00 A.M., 3:00 P.M., and 9:00 P.M. It makes the AutoEgg work for smaller kittens.

Do not worry about the noise. The AutoEgg ultra-quiet when cleaning. Each clean cycle runs for about 5 minutes.

Automatic Cat-Stuck Prevention

In Automatic mode, if the AutoEgg detects sudden weight above 0.5 kg (1.1 lb.), the Cat-Stuck Prevention function will be enabled, and the self-cleaning will pause immediately.

If the sudden weight disappears

- within five seconds, the AutoEgg will immediately resume self-cleaning.
- after five seconds, the AutoEgg will wait for 5 minutes before resuming.

How Often to Replace the Waste Drawer Liner?

We recommend replacing the liner every three to five days, depending on your cat's excretion amount.

AutoEgg Touchscreen Display Panel Setting

- Time: Set time (the automatic clean cycle runs four times per day at 3:00 A.M., 9:00 A.M., 3:00 P.M., and 9:00 P.M.)
- Mode: Switch between Automatic and Manual mode.
- Sensor: Restart and check the gravity sensors if they perform abnormally, or the weight log does not clear.
- Language: Select your preferred language.

Rake

Press the Rake button to reset the position of the cleaning rake.

- Press once to move the rake to one end and press again to move it to the other end.
- When the rake's moving, press once to pause the movement and press again to resume the movement.

Log

The AutoEgg records a log of date, time, duration, weight, and waste data for the last seven days.*

If the cat's waste is less than 5 g (0.18 oz), the data line will be displayed in red to show the abnormal situation.

If red data appears frequently, take your cat to a veterinarian to check the cat's excretory system.

*All data is for reference only. Waste data of 0 g may be recorded if the cat plays inside the AutoEgg.

Why did my new AutoEgg come with existing log? Is it a used unit?

Your unit is brand new. We test and record data one or two times in the factory for quality control purposes.

What if my cat is reluctant to use the AutoEgg?

We recommend that you place the AutoEgg in the same location as your previous litter box. You can leave the old litter box near the AutoEgg for a short time. You can start by taking a cup of litter from the old litter box and adding it to the clean litter in the AutoEgg.

Why won't my AutoEgg perform automatic self-cleaning?

1. Check your cat's weight. The automatic cleaning after each excretion only works for cats above 2 kg (4.4 lb.). *If you have a kitten that weighs less than 4.4 lbs, power on your AutoEgg, then place any object above 4.4 lbs for 15 seconds to activate the four-time automatic cleaning throughout the day.
2. Make sure the AutoEgg is placed on a hard and flat surface, is not touching a wall or other objects, and is a safe distance from air vents.
3. Make sure to unplug and re-plug the power cord to reset the weight sensors whenever after you touch the AutoEgg (add litter, move the AutoEgg, or enclose the hood, etc).
4. Check the two rake position limit triggers to make sure they are clickable.
5. Check that the cleaning mode is set to "Automatic" and not "Manual" in the settings menu.
6. Press the "Sensor" button in the settings to reset the weight sensors.

Why is the touchscreen unresponsive?

1. There may be some litter stuck in the display panel. Use a needle, thin strip of plastic, or a thin toothpick to remove the litter from the perimeter of the screen.
2. Then, gently press down on the four corners of the screen panel until the touchscreen functionality returns.
