Marsden M-410:

A portable, robust baby to teenage scale

The Marsden M-410 is a compact, stable and robust digital baby scale suitable for use on hospital wards and out in the community with health visitors and midwives.

The M-410's design is based on our hugely popular M-420 and M-430 floor scales, which are tough, long lasting scales.

Equally the M-410 is built to last, with a tough base, adjustable feet and a strong, easily removable baby tray that fits on top.

A well-padded carry case or rucksack is available making transporting the scale as easy as possible. Weighing only 3.3kg, the M-410 can be easily carried without any strain.

The M-410 can be kept in full working condition with a Marsden service contract. It also has a two-year warranty.

Lightweight and portable scale

Weighing babies and children with ease

The baby tray of the M-410 is perfectly sculpted for weighing a baby.

Children and teenagers can also be weighed – simply slide the baby tray off, and they can stand on the platform.

The M-410 is accurate to 10g/20g, with a capacity of 50kg.

The M-410 comes with a Tare option, allowing you to remove unwanted weight like a blanket – and get a true reading of the baby or child's weight.

Powered by 6 x AA batteries this scale is a truly portable weighing solution. An AC adaptor is included as backup for when the batteries are running low.

Get all the data you need

As well as an accurate weight reading, you can also measure the baby's height. An optional height measure simply clips on to the baby tray and provides a clear, digital height reading.
