Marsden M-425:

An extremely accurate portable floor scale with a separate remote display

The Marsden M-425 is a lightweight and robust floor scale widely used by health visitors and school nurses.

The perfect all-round floor scale

The M-425 is a perfect weighing solution for people of all ages and sizes. Due to the high capacity and precise graduations it provides highly accurate readings for almost any patient, from school children to elderly people.

The scale's plug-in remote display makes this the perfect solution for weight sensitive environments like schools.

The M-425 is also available with optional Bluetooth connectivity for instant weight data transfer to a handheld device, PC or central database.

The scale can be safely and easily transported with the optional, well-padded carry case.

Available with Bluetooth connectivity

Easy to read display

Remote display for discreet weighing

Optional carry case

Measure weight quickly and easily

The M-425 employs a handy 'tap on' feature – meaning, with the tap of a foot, the scale switches on.

Also Hold means a scale will automatically stabilise and hold the patient's weight – not a single button needs to be pressed.

The M-425 is powered by 6 x AA batteries making it a truly portable weighing solution and ideal for use within the community. A mains adaptor is also supplied as standard.

BMI can also be calculated using this scale.

Built to last

Despite its lightweight design, the Marsden M-425 is robustly built. It comes with a full two year warranty and can be kept accurate and reliable with a Marsden service contract.
