Marsden M-400:

A portable, robust, baby and toddler scale for health visitors and midwives

The Marsden M-400 is a compact, stable and robust digital baby scale suitable for use on hospital wards and out in the community with health visitors and midwives.

A robust scale, built to last

The M-400's design is based on our hugely popular M-420 and M-430 floor scales, which are tough, long lasting scales.

Equally the M-400 is built to last, with a tough base, adjustable feet and a strong, easily removable baby tray that fits on top.

A well-padded carry case or rucksack is available making transporting the scale as easy as possible. Weighing only 3.3kg, the M-400 can be easily carried without any strain.

The M-400 can be kept in full working condition with a Marsden service contract. It also has a two-year warranty.

Lightweight and portable scale

Optional carry case

Weigh babies and toddlers

The baby tray of the M-400 is perfectly sculpted for weighing a baby.

If a child wants to stand on the scale to be weighed, the tray simply slides off.

The M-400 is highly accurate to 5g/10g, with a capacity of 20kg.

Powered by 6 x AA batteries this scale is a truly portable weighing solution. An AC adaptor is included as backup for when the batteries are running low.

The M-400 comes with a Tare option allowing you to remove unwanted weight like a blanket – and get a true reading of the baby or child's weight.

Get all the data you need

As well as an accurate weight reading, you can also measure the baby's height. An optional height measure simply clips on to the baby tray and provides a clear, digital height reading.
