

PHILIP STITES

Condition Report Available

CO400-342/66500

ROMAN BRECCIA THRONE

the massive solid horse-shoe shaped and molded back, the interior with low relief carved spreading wings, extending to lion head carved arms contiguous to lion paw feet with foliate collars, contiguous with shaped and molded seat and conforming apron, with wave pattern relief over concave base and volute and foliate carved tablet; the whole raised on contiguous conforming plinth

19th century – After the first century B.C.E. Model

Overall dimensions: 33" wide x 26" deep x 30" high Seat height: 17"

A similar example can be seen in the Sully Wing of the Louvre as well as the Biel Throne in the British Museum

Provenance: From Michael Taylor Collection, San Francisco