

PHILIP STITES

Condition Report Available

CO403-553/32000

FRENCH MAHOGANY TABLE

in the manner of Pierre Jeanneret; the rectangular massive mahogany plank top of two sections with conforming mitered flat edge, raised on a lateral base tablette

Circa 1935

Overall dimensions: 78½" long x 40½" deep x 29" high

Pierre Jeanneret (1896 – 1967) – a Swiss architect who collaborated with his more famous cousin Charles Edouard Jeanneret (who assumed the pseudonym Le Corbusier) for about twenty years. Their working relationship ended; however they collaborated once again famously after the War on the plan and architecture for the city of Chandigarh in India