

PHILIP STITES

Condition Report Available

CO405-112/38000

ETRUSCAN TERRA-COTTA FRAGMENT

in the form of a fully realized standing youth, carved, shaped and molded with feet wide, possibly holding an apple in the right hand, clad in a chiton and himation, his face with finely outlined lips, large prominent eyes with incised irises and pupils, and grooved eyebrows, his unruly hair falling in short crescentic locks over the forehead and surmounted by a helmet; now mounted on ebonized wood plinth and showing traces of archeological patination

4th Century BCE

Overall dimensions: 8" deep x 10" wide x 30 1/2" high