Blimp Assembly

- Loosen & tighten the ratchet knob to adjust the blimp handle as per your requirement. Next, rotate and open the end cap.

- Open the locking clips at both the ends of the blimp cage and slide out the mic holder rod.

NOTE: The rubber and holder clamps come attached to the rod. But if any rubber or clamp is not in a good condition, you can replace it as shown in the images.

- Insert Mic into the suspension system and connect it to a connector cable. Then, re-attach the blimp cage.

- While using the blimp extension, attach the extension to the blimp and close the blimp windscreen with the end cap.

- To increase the height of the boom pole, loosen and remove the ratchet knob on the handle of the blimp cage. Then attach the adapter set to the handle. Finally, insert the screw inside the thread of the adapter set.

- Put the given spring on the screw and insert the screw into the thread of the boom pole cage.

- Correctly insert the adapter set and secure it with the ratchet knob on the other side of the blimp cage.

- Blimp cage properly secure with adapter set as shown in the picture.

- Attach the smaller size adapter with the blimp cage to reduce the height of the boom pole.

- Once the end cap is attached to the blimp windscreen, you can cover it using the fur cover.

NOTE: The fur cover serves the purpose of further minimizing the noise. You can use 60cm or 40cm fur cover depending on whether the blimp is with or without the extension.
