

Character design is the single most important step in producing professional-quality puppets.

- First, develop a personality for the puppet. Establish the character's invisible qualities and write them down.
- Next, translate those qualities to physical features. Plan to offer visual clues that immediately reveal the character's invisible traits.
- Finally, use tracing paper and the shapes on this page to create a character sketch.

Did You Know?

The Mostro and Borsa heads are interchangeable! No pattern alterations are necessary. That means if you have both patterns, you can create FOUR different monster puppet shapes!
