This is us

CBDayz means « the good days ». The days you won and the ones left to conquer. We are an athlete-driven research group led by the desire to keep practicing our favorite sports as we get older. We strongly believe that if you take care of your mental and physical health, think positively, and live in the present moment, everything is possible and happiness can become your only state of mind. Regardless of the barriers and pain, action sports are what we enjoy the most. Our CBD products are designed to help athletes with recovery, pain & inflammation management and to boost your energy level before engaging. We believe health is wealth, and this is why we keep getting after it!

“Part of my journey with CBDDAYZ is to learn about how my body works, what kind of connection my body and soul have, and what are the healing properties of compounds like CBD.” 🌟

What is CBD?

Cannabidiol (CBD) is a compound found within hemp extract that interacts with the human body's endocannabinoid system.

The Endocannabinoid system

The endocannabinoid system is the second-largest neurotransmitter system in the body. It has been proven that the ECS has homeostatic functions in the brain, skin, digestive tract, skeletal and cardiovascular systems and act as an overall biological regulator. Those receptors have many different responsibilities and can help with a wide range of conditions. CBDayz intentions are clear when it comes to products, we are addressing the immune system, pain, inflammation, stress response and mood receptors.

We need our products. 🌟

Each and single one of us has experienced the pain and anxiety from action sports injuries and risk management. Since we love it so much, we always think it's worth aiming for that first chair to score fresh snow, be on the lookout for good sunset swells, and going out skateboarding at random hours. Our struggle is real and the reason we started the company is coming from a true need to heal ourselves. This is why we are committed to such a high level of quality. We don't only make great products, we develop the best products on the market because we need them to be so. The truth is we are planning to use them for years. With a mindset programmed to ride our boards until we die, we design each of our products with 3 main objectives:

- 1. Boosting your energy levels and immune system.
- 2. Help you recover from muscle & joints pain and inflammations.
- 3. Help you relax, sleep and relieve anxiety

All our products are THC free and made with premium quality American hemp extracts. After a long period of research and development through our professional athlete network, we are proud to complement your active lifestyle with the best CBD experience possible.

CBDDayz Vaporizer blends

Our relationship with the plant goes a long way. Before we even knew CBD existed, we’ve always enjoyed smoking it through cannabis. But over time, the highly anticipated habit of smoking stuck but the desire of getting high slowly vanished, to be replaced by an ambition to simply feel good and be happy. So we decided to develop a CBD vape blend that would deliver the goods, by providing the benefits of CBD quickly and tasting similar to our favorite cannabis strains. The only way to do that was to carefully select the terpenes to create those flavors and combine them with the dominant terpenes known to enhance energy and have sedative effects such as Myrcene (Analgesic) and Limonene (energizing). Inhaling CBD is known to be the fastest and most effective way to consume CBD. To ensure we smoke the best and safest smoke possible, our vape blends are made with only two components, premium quality CBD distillate, and 100% natural terpenes. Our two signature blends each have their own specific purpose: Energy and Recovery.

Energy and recovery

- 80% CBD potency
- No MCT oil, artificial flavors or cutting agent
- THC free
- Only natural terpenes for flavoring

Giving back

Because we care about our planet, its forests, its water, its inhabitants. We, at CBDAYZ, are committing to always do our best to offer the best premium quality product sustainably. We are committed to giving 1 % of all NET sales towards protecting our planet. Through Community Carbon tree Costa Rica, we will donate towards planting bio-diversified trees within 7 degrees of the equator on selected local farms and employ local workers. We will donate to this organization because we trust them and we know for a fact, this becomes a great way to help our planet.

In the future, we have the intention to donate to other organizations caring for the protection of animals, oceans, reefs, and humans. But this is where we start, let's get after it! One tree at a time.
