DISAPPOINTING AFFIRMATIONS

By Dave Tarnowski

From the wildly popular Instagram account (@disappointingaffirmations), Disappointing Affirmations hilariously counters the culture of relentless toxic positivity with a realistic take on a disappointing world where failure is always an option, but that's okay. Pairing lovely vacation photos taken by the author himself with sayings that are amusingly self-critical, encouraging, disillusioned, or all three at once, Tarnowski points to feelings commonly unacknowledged or hidden and spotlights them with humor, wit, and empathy. You can do it! But you probably won't.

But also: Be kind to yourself, asshole. Transforming and re-envisioning the material for print while adding tons of new work, this is the funny-because-it's-true, sneaky self-help gift book for anyone who isn't happy all the time and doesn't feel seen in the whole "positive mental attitude" culture. Unfollow your dreams!

LIFE WANTS YOU DEAD

A Calm, Rational, and Totally Legit Guide to Scaring Yourself Safe

By Evan Waite

In this era of economic turmoil, climate catastrophe, and cliques of cool teens just waiting to make fun of your shoes, we live in a heightened state of fear. We're afraid of the world and afraid of each other—but not nearly as afraid as we should be! Packed with lifesaving/fear-fanning illustrations, sidebars, jump scares, chilling one-liners, and more, these pages will keep readers safe from the scourges of love, technology, birds, education, jackalopes, their own bodies, their homes, and the world outside their own bodies and homes.

EERIE LEGENDS

An Illustrated Exploration of Creepy Creatures, the Paranormal, and Folklore from Around the World

By Ricardo Diseño

Our world is a strange place. Acclaimed artist Ricardo Diseño (The Classic Horror Oracle Deck) brings a lifelong fascination with eerie folklore that peers into the dark spaces that lie somewhere between belief and imagination and into the weird stories we tell to make sense of where and who we are. Here are tales of vengeful ghosts, bloodthirsty monsters, internet-conjured nightmares, lost souls, cryptid curiosities, demons, aliens, the undead, and the inexplicable. Diseño's electrifying artwork depicting each spooky subject is accompanied by evocative descriptions, history, and a short flash fiction story in which readers encounter the dark presences themselves.

WHEN SATURN RETURNS

By David Odyssey

You know how everything kind of goes haywire when you're 29? It's an age when big—not necessarily bad—changes seem inevitable for everyone. Astrologers have an increasingly-zietgeisty name for this: Saturn Return (aka when Saturn returns to the same spot in the sky it was in when you were born, roughly at ages 30, 60, and 90). David Odyssey has been making astrology fun and approachable for his readers for years and is an expert when it comes to planetary movements, pop-culture, and crisis. This book covers everything to expect for each zodiac sign, how best to prepare, when Saturn travels through each house, and individual placement. When Saturn Returns is a comforting, fun resource for astrology buffs to new-comers alike seeking comfort and answers in times of great personal unrest.

FLORAL ESTRANGEMENTS

Blooms to taunt your rivals and vanquish your enemies

By Rebecca Fishbein

Is there anything more savage than an archly composed bouquet? The Victorians didn't think so, which is why they came up with just as many cheeky, rude, and downright hostile flower symbols as they did nice ones. Floral Estrangements seeks both to enlighten modern readers and fuel their revenge fantasies, providing the meanings of some common (and not so common) vengeful plants and an illustrated, step-by-step guide for composing bouquets to slay...your nemeses. Whether you dream of sending your ex's new girlfriend a rhododendron ("beware!") or your brother three buttercup emojis for leaving the seat up ("childish/immature"), the application of this information is endless.

Hardcover, $24.95, 7-1/4 x 9-1/4 in, 176 pages, full-color illustrations throughout, Fall 2024

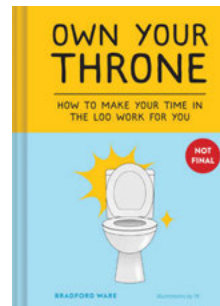

GOTH PARENTING

By Casey Gilly

From Eisner award-winning writer and certified spooky mama Casey Gilly comes this illustrated humor book that takes you through some of the most important moments of parenthood from the very earliest days through teen angst. Gilly's parenting tips are tongue-in-cheek, but based in real experiences every parent can relate to. Goth Parenting is brimming with references to all things dark and beautiful, pulling from poetry, music, cult classic films, and icons of goth culture. And for the uninitiated, Gilly's words of wisdom contain something to make every parent laugh. After all, goth parents might look different, but their ups and their downs are the same as any other—just maybe a little more stylish.

BREAKING BAO
Baking with Asian Flavors

By Clarice Lam, photography by Evan Sung

From accredited pastry chef Clarice Lam comes a pan-Asian baking book exploring an array of baked goods, confections, and savory snacks, all of which are umami-rich and downright delicious. All of the recipes in this book are grounded in Asian flavors and made with a combination of American, European, and Asian baking techniques—all made with accessibility in mind. Featuring stunning photography by Evan Sung, this book will have a visual-forward focus and an emphasis on fun-loving design. Divided into three major chapters, Bao, Dessert, and Snacks, with subcategories for easy navigation, Breaking Bao is designed with both the trained and home baker in mind. In the Bao chapter, readers will learn the fundamentals of baking bao, whether it be baked, steamed, fried, or laminated, and then will go on to discover delicious and unexpected bao-based recipes. The Dessert chapter will have readers honing their baking skills, and in the final chapter, Snacks, readers will make all kinds of savory and sweet treats. Breaking Bao's technique-driven approach and its wonderful recipes will demystify Asian baking for those who are unfamiliar and bring back fond memories for those who have known and loved these flavors for many years.

Clarice Lam initially began her career in modeling, which gave her the opportunity to travel internationally for over a decade. Her time in Paris ignited a deep appreciation for the world of French pastry. While living in Italy, Lam attended Le Cordon Bleu where she took courses in Italian cuisine. After retiring from modeling, Lam returned to the United States where she studied at The French Culinary Institute and graduated with a Grand Diplôme in Classic Pastry Arts. Her work has been featured in The New York Times, Food & Wine, Condé Nast Traveler, and many more. Lam made her on-camera debut on Amazon Prime Video's Dr. Seuss Baking Challenge as a main judge, which premiered in December 2022.

LE SUD
Recipes + Stories from Provence-Alpes-Côte d'Azur
By Rebekah Pepler, photographs by Joann Pai

For centuries, artists, vacationers, and food writers have fallen hard for the charms of the south of France. And like many regions where landscapes and people happily crash into each other, the food is dynamic and exciting. In Le Sud, James Beard Book Award finalist Rebekah Pepler distills the flavors, techniques, and spirit of Provence, the Alps, and Côte d'Azur into a never-before-seen collection of recipes, photographs, and stories that give us a fresh new look at the region. This French cuisine cookbook and lifestyle guide shares sweet, savory, and cocktail recipes along with transporting photographs that expand our perception from lavender fields and afternoon pastis to a geographically and culturally diverse region. Pepler prioritizes simplicity over complicated techniques and sketches the meals that fuel simple gatherings, meet-ups, hikes, and days at the beach.

ONE WEEK IN JANUARY

By Carson Ellis

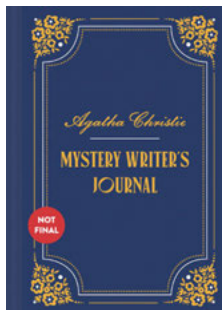

This time-capsule of an illustrated memoir evocatively captures a specific cultural moment, taking readers back to Carson Ellis's first week living with Colin Meloy and their troupe of friends in a converted warehouse in Portland, Oregon, before any of them made it big. Before Ellis became an award-winning picture book author and a beloved artist—before The Decemberists released their first album and Meloy became a household name—and before these two longtime friends became lovers, parents, and successful adults, Ellis, Meloy, and a gaggle of their artist friends were living, working, and dreaming in some semi-illegal apartments on the outskirts of Portland. In this illustrated volume, Ellis recreates a detailed journal she kept for one week in January of 2001. It's a snapshot of a bygone era, in which she meticulously documents quotidian frustrations and small, meaningful moments, including everything from the meals she ate and the cigarettes she smoked (right after deciding to cut back) to the early Decemberists songs Meloy played for her and her first draft of a poster for his nascent band. Brimming with Ellis's beautiful 2023 paintings of her 2001 life, this memoir offers readers a glimpse into the turn of the millennium. Ellis's journal entries and illustrations are accompanied by her new introduction, providing context and insight. Her almost humorously dry prose captures the minutia of a budding artist's life in a way that is both captivatingly specific and wryly universal. It's a work that celebrates humble beginnings and big dreams and will inspire and entertain millennials, Gen Xers, aspiring creatives, and all those who love Ellis's art and writing.

Carson Ellis is the author and illustrator of the bestselling picture books Home and Du Iz Tak? (a Caldecott Honor book and the recipient of an E.B. White Read Aloud Award). Ellis has been awarded silver medals by the Society of Illustrators for her work on Wildwood Imperium and Dillweed's Revenge by Florence Parry Heide. She's the illustrator-in-residence for Colin Meloy's band, The Decemberists, and received Grammy nominations in 2016 and 2018 for album art design.

TAROT FOR CREATIVITY

By Chelsey Pippin Mizzi

Discover how tarot can help you stay inspired and make your best creative work with this practical guide. Tarot isn't just for divination—it's also a great way to connect to your creativity. For experienced tarot users and beginners with creative pursuits, this easy-to-follow guide introduces tarot as a companion for cultivating your best creative work. Chelsey Pippin Mizzi, writer and founder of the consultancy Pip Cards Tarot, positions tarot in this accessible book not as an occult tool for fortune-telling but as a creative tool for storytelling and idea-generating. Offering an introduction to the deck's basic structure and history, Pippin Mizzi builds upon the rich tradition of tarot by connecting the card's archetypes to creative concerns. Here, the Major Arcana are like your creative support system, while the Minor Arcana cards help you put your creativity into action. Cups are for learning to love your creative work, Wands are for embracing your process, Coins are for creative work/life balance, and Swords are for getting out of your head. Her unique interpretations for the cards are accompanied by prompts that use the card's significance as a creative jumping-off point, along with an original tarot spread that can help users dive further into the creative guidance of each card. Whether you're a visual artist, writer, blogger, coder, or content creator, this book is a treasure trove of thoughtful advice for exploring ideas, overcoming blocks, and cultivating creative magic.

PORTRAIT OF A WOMAN
Art, Rivalry & Revolution in the Life of Adélaïde Labille-Guiard
By Bridget Quinn

Born in Paris in 1749, Adélaïde Labille-Guiard defied societal barriers to become a member of the exclusive Académie Royale and a mentor for other ambitious women painters. She left behind few writings, and her legacy was long overshadowed by celebrated portraitist and memoirist Élisabeth Vigée-Lebrun. In this engaging biography, award-winning writer Bridget Quinn applies her insightful interpretation of art history to Labille-Guiard's life, offering a fascinating new perspective on the artist's feminism, her sexuality, and her vision of the world and expertly blending close analyses of paintings with broader context about the era and inserting delicately fictionalized interpersonal scenes that fill the gaps in the historical record.

SAY IT WITH FLOWERS

By Kelsie Hayes

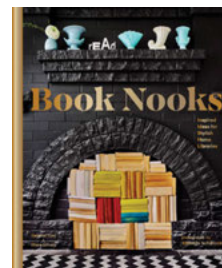

In the seven years since founding NYC-based flower shop POPUPFLORIST, owner Kelsie Hayes has collected a trove of the most memorable notes customers have written to accompany an arrangement. These anonymous notes are juicy, hilarious, comforting, congratulatory, sexy, endearing, and even mysterious, offering a peek into the private lives of everyday people. This petite gift book pairs each of these notes with a photo of a flower arrangement inspired by the sender's words and designed with POPUPFLORIST's on-trend aesthetic. The photos will be annotated to identify types of blooms, and a mini-dictionary at the back of the book shares the meanings of commonly used flowers in case readers are inspired to recreate the arrangements themselves.

BEING BAD
Deconstructing Labels, Redefining Ourselves, and Becoming Everything You're Not Supposed to Be
By Arielle Egozi

What happens when you release what you think you know about power, identity, and your body and ask yourself what you really want? In Being Bad, Arielle Egozi, Salon's inaugural sex and love advice columnist and author of the viral LinkedIn "sex worker" post, presents a path to a new world by rejecting what's "good" and "right" and asking what happens when we lean into our own pleasure and safety instead. Using frameworks and philosophies that Egozi has developed over the years living, writing, and educating on BDSM, sex work, and anti-racist queer decolonization, they share their own journey of never quite fitting in as a queer, nonbinary person of color and how finally embracing their multifaceted identity led to freedom in being "bad" in a world of binaries. Filled with tender stories from falling in love, and breaking people-pleasing habits, to exploring what it means to be a "Bad Homme," Being Bad also features interviews from certified knowledge makers with varying life experiences and identities to inspire, educate, and provide another prism through which to view labels. It also offers questions, practices, and tools throughout the book to integrate new thoughts and experiences that arise while learning how to be everything bad. Being Bad is the tool and permission for you to step into your own power and envision beyond what your family, society, or capitalism told you to want. Learn how to be bad and redefine every aspect of your life.

An Asian Feminist's Essays on Where We (Don't) Fit
By Evelyn Nam

From Harvard- and Cornell-educated gender scholar and "Herspective" TikTok sensation Evelyn Nam, this debut essay collection offers the fresh and urgent cultural criticism of feminism we need, with thoughts on where Asian American feminism fits in modern feminism. It's not news that modern feminism has an inclusion problem. Conversations following the first Women's March spurred important debate around who gets highlighted and who gets ignored. And yet, even as the feminist movement has been forced to re-examine itself, Asian women and feminists remain consistently skipped over, unmentioned, and ignored. Nam highlights the myriad ways in which Asian people still occupy that in-between, outside, and "neither" space in the cultural imagination and how that identity has shaped the confusing, misunderstood, and sometimes invisible role of Asian-American women. With essays about #StopAsianHate, calling out versus calling in, and who counts as a feminist, Nam weaves together the oft-forgotten history of Asian people as the "model minority" with her own story of moving to the US from South Korea at age 17 without knowing English and her journey to becoming an Asian-American feminist.

LIFE AS WE KNOW IT (CAN BE)
My Search for a World Worth Passing Down
 By Bill Weir

Award-winning journalist and CNN chief climate correspondent Bill Weir takes readers through time and around our changing world to confront the biggest threats to life as we know it and search for proven ways to build happier, healthier, and more resilient communities, come what may. Weir has spent decades telling the stories of unique people, places, cultures, and creatures on the brink of change. With a storyteller's flair, Weir digs into fascinating corners of history, psychology, technology, and his own biography to connect the lessons he's collected from the happiest, healthiest, and most resilient societies. In these pages, we join a search for ancient wisdom and new ideas. Life As We Know It (Can Be) is a celebration of the wonders of our planet, a meditation on the human wants and needs that drive it out of balance, and an inspiration for communities to galvanize around nature and each other as the very best way to brace for what's next.

MOVE BY MOVE
Life Lessons on and off the Chessboard
 By Maurice Ashley

A little book of life advice drawing on the timeless wisdom of chess from Maurice Ashley, the first Black International Grand Master of Chess. Since that historic moment, he has brought his love of the game to a wide audience as an educator, innovator, and motivational speaker. In Move by Move, Ashley guides readers through the essential lessons that chess has taught him about life, using both personal examples from his rise from an immigrant kid playing matches in Brooklyn parks to the most rarified levels of competition, as well as insights and anecdotes from fellow notable chess players.

In short chapters with practical takeaways, this book reaches from the fundamental to the counterintuitive on subjects ranging from self-knowledge to strategic thinking to the importance of failure. This little book of wisdom is the perfect gift for graduates, chess enthusiasts, and anyone interested in understanding how lessons from the most famous and long-lasting game of strategy can help you reach your personal and professional goals.

CAMO
By Thandiwe Muriu

This is the first publication to chronicle the work of international artist and photographer Thandiwe Muriu, celebrating the vibrant portraits she creates that combine cultural textiles and beauty ideologies. Muriu takes us on a colorful, reflective journey through her world as a woman living in modern Kenya as she reinterprets contemporary African portraiture. As the sole woman operating in the male-dominated advertising photography industry in Kenya, Muriu has repeatedly confronted questions around the role of women in society, the place of tradition, and her own self-perception. These experiences inspired her first work, the Camo series, a project of cultural reflection. Camo was the catalyst for her to push new boundaries in her photography, leading her into a deeply personal artistic journey. The compelling, fully saturated photographs in this collection confront issues surrounding identity and self-perception while seeking to redefine female empowerment through Muriu's choice of materials. These constructed images are not digital manipulations but physical sets that incorporate African textiles as backdrops and custom-tailored clothing and headdresses. At the forefront of her practice is using textiles to make her subjects disappear and serve as a canvas for reflection on the question of identity and its evolution over time. Muriu also consistently reimagines common objects associated with the daily lives of Kenyans into bold accessories donned by her subjects. A visually stunning art book and cultural touchstone, Camo is a collectible treasure as the first book to showcase the work of a rising star in the worlds of photography and art.

PALACE COSTUME
Inside Hollywood's Best Kept Fashion Secret
By Mimi Haddon

Curated for the exclusive benefit of costumers, stylists, and designers, Palace Costume has lent authenticity and panache to classic films such as Chinatown, The Godfather, Boogie Nights, Austin Powers, The Big Lebowski, and Coming to America, to name but a few. Oscar-winning costume designers such as Mark Bridges, Sandy Powell, and Ruth Carter have been known to peruse the archive for inspiration and for specific pieces for their films. Palace Costume has been the vision of Melody Barnette, whose journey in retro clothing is movie-worthy itself. Her first boutique in Los Angeles in the early 1970s attracted the likes of Diana Ross and Joni Mitchell and many other rock-and-rollers from the era. This inspired her to transition the business into a to-the-trade only rental service enabling her to hold onto and care for these vintage gems. Fifty years later, her 30,000-square-foot trove of over half a million pieces is a beloved and legendary collection. Photographer Mimi Haddon has been documenting the vintage treasures at Palace Costume for many years, and Inside the Secret Palace is that behind-the-scenes glimpse. Her carefully curated photographs are stunning, stylized, and saturated, resulting in a comprehensive and delightful celebration of this one-of-a-kind archive.

ARCHITECTS ON THE ART MUSEUM

By Julian Rose

Sixteen of the world's most eminent architects discuss influences, process, and the rich challenges and rewards of designing everything from museums to house art. This remarkable collection of interviews with sixteen of the world's most thoughtful and innovative architects working in museum design establishes dialogue across generations, geographies, and modes of architectural practice. The interviewees represent a wide-ranging group of established and up-and-coming architects, from Frank Gehry, who reveals how the insights gained from nearly half a century of dialogue with the visual arts influenced his revolutionary Guggenheim, to Kulapat Yantrasast, who describes how his innovative rethinking of exhibition design can complicate and expand the narratives presented in the galleries of established institutions such as the Metropolitan Museum of Art, where he is currently redesigning the display of artifacts from Africa, Oceania, and the Americas. Each of the selected architects has a significant and unusually deep connection to artistic practice—from David Adjaye's direct collaborations with some of the most important artists of his generation to Elizabeth Diller's decades of work in conceptual and performance art. All have something important to say, about museum architecture and the nature of contemporary art itself.

Interviewees include David Adjaye, David Chipperfield, Elizabeth Diller, Frank Gehry, Richard Gluckman, Jacques Herzog, Steven Holl, Walter Hood, Renzo Piano, Denise Scott Brown, Kazuyo Sejima, Annabelle Selldorf, Shohei Shigematsu, Kulapat Yantrasast, Liu Yichun, and Peter Zumthor.

The History of "Where Are the Black Designers?" An Advocacy
By Cheryl D. Miller

Celebrated designer, writer, activist, and educator Cheryl D. Miller's history of and answer to the question "Where are the Black designers?" Cheryl D. Miller is one of the design field's most respected figures, widely celebrated for her decades of scholarship and activism. This long-awaited book documents the history of the rhetorical question "Where are the Black designers?" as well as related questions that are urgent to the design profession: Where did they originate? Where have they been? Why haven't they been represented in design histories and canons? Built on Miller's lifetime of research, teaching, and design practice and incorporating stories of her own experiences, this groundbreaking book provides knowledge to complete the quest and offers further practical solutions and strategies for today's designers.

MARGIN AND TEXT
Expanding Narratives in Architecture
By Betsy West, Kelly Carlson Reddig, and Jose L.S. Gamez

Margin and Text is focused on issues of diversity, equity, access and justice embedded in architecture and the built environment. Written by minority practitioners and educators, Margin and Text is a collection of essays, interviews, and personal stories, as well as historical and current writings and lectures. The contributors are diverse in gender, ethnicity, age, religion, culture, point of view, and the nature of their work. Collectively they offer reflections on architecture's troubled past, commentary on its fluid present, and visions of possible futures, all set amid today's context of broad social activism, dangerously divisive politics, and the devastating toll of the COVID-19 pandemic.

SHOPKEEPING

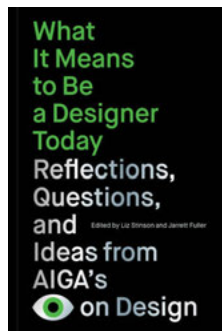

Stories, Advice, and Observations

By Peter Miller

For the past forty-five years Peter Miller has run his bookshop in Seattle. He has also written three books about his love of the meal, from cooking (Lunch at the Shop, Five Ways to Cook Asparagus) to cleaning up (How to Wash the Dishes). In Shopkeeping, Miller writes for the first time about his other love: “There is a tradition of shopkeeping, a tradition of codes, etiquette and customs. For the most part, it is an oral history, passed along, person to person. You learn to be a retailer—not by going to college, but by going to work. You learn from people who have learned how to run a shop.” In ten chapters, Miller crafts his stories from the bookshop floor with wry humor and skillful storytelling that will have readers laughing out loud. Along the way, he sends out a plea that only small shops can really characterize our towns and cities, making them unique, special, and worth visiting and living near.

Somewhere a rock is waiting for you. Maybe it is a rock from the heart of a mountain, that will remind you of how big you are inside, too. Maybe it is a rock washed by the sea, that knows all about the backs and forths and ups and downs of things. Maybe it is a small rock, just the right size to close your hand around, and know that the rock is with you, and it is just right.

Poet Mary Lyn Ray and artist Felicita Sala offer a marvelous exploration of the special relationship children find with the natural world, and the fascination and friendship they find in special rocks.

TWO TOGETHER

By Brendan Wenzel

In this companion book to They All Saw a Cat and Inside Cat, a journey home leads to unexpected adventures for a cat and dog. A playful, imaginative story of friendship, empathy, and discovery by Caldecott Honor winner Brendan Wenzel. Cat and Dog are headed home. A simple route lies ahead of them . . . or does it? There's so much to see and smell and hear, and the two of them experience the world very differently. A stream, for instance, is watery fun for Dog, but it may not be so delightful for Cat! As their journey becomes an adventure full of unexpected twists and turns, Cat and Dog show that it's possible for two creatures to travel in the world together despite their distinctive perspectives and abilities—and even to appreciate and enjoy them. With the irresistible read-aloud appeal of Brendan Wenzel's They All Saw a Cat, winner of the Caldecott Honor, this is a funny, exuberant companion tale that's an imaginative tribute to empathy, friendship, and understanding.

CONSTRUCTION SITE: GARBAGE CREW TO THE RESCUE!

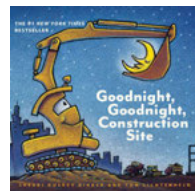

By Sherri Duskey Rinker, Illustrated by AG Ford

The construction crew is back and ready to help renovate! Working together with new friends—garbage trucks, roll-off trucks, container delivery trucks, and more!—they'll help refurbish old homes, setting up dumpsters and garbage cans, sorting trash, recycling, and compost, and transporting the garbage away. A fleet of heroes, in they drive; the whole earth shakes as they arrive.

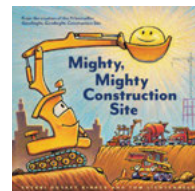

Rumbling, roaring, rolling through, they're big and strong (and stinky, too!) It's the mighty GARBAGE CREW! In this latest picture book in the series that has so far placed every book on the NYT bestseller list, the construction crew is teaming up on a new and exciting adventure: renovating rundown houses! With the help of garbage trucks (front loaders! side loaders! rear loaders!), the team is ready to clean up mounds of paper, junk, and trash, rotten food, all gross and smashed, bottles, cans in every size, and things ... they just can't recognize! Sherri Duskey Rinker's playful rhyming text and AG Ford's vibrant illustrations make cleaning up fun from start to finish. Little construction fans will love watching trucks both familiar and new work together as a team to rescue these rundown houses and turn them into renovated homes.

LITTLE MONSTER SAYS GOODNIGHT

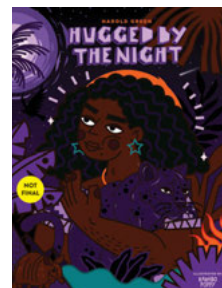

By David Slonim

Getting ready for bed is a blast, thanks to a relatable little monster who does things, well, just a little differently ...With Monster's help, Little Monster gets ready for bed: he brushes his fangs (leaving gobs of fang paste everywhere), enjoys some bedtime books (as in, he eats them), and asks his parents to see if there's a monster under the bed (there is—good!). That's right—even monsters must get ready for bed, and Little Monster's nighttime rituals will encourage all little monsters to go to sleep!

HUGGED BY THE NIGHT

By Harold Green, Illustrated by Karabo Poppy

Spoken-word poet Harold Green's debut picture book Hugged by the Night is at once a reassuring lullaby for bedtime fears and an affirmation of the beauty and power of Black identity. As darkness settles over the forest, three animals gaze up at the Night Sky and wonder how they, too, can be as confident, proud, and fearless as She is. Hearing their wishes, the Sky takes the animals into her arms and, with a gentle embrace, bestows each one with a powerful and transformative gift. Soothing and richly lyrical, Harold Green brings his vibrant poeticism to this new folktale. With luminous art by Karabo Poppy, Hugged by the Night is at once a reassuring lullaby for bedtime fears and an affirmation of the beauty and power of Black identity.

FINDING GRATEFUL

By Dianne White, illustrated by Faith Pray

A heartfelt picture book that celebrates embracing the moment and finding gratitude right here, right now. What does grateful look like? How does it feel? How do you find it? Even in the face of a challenge, you don't need a map: You just need to pay attention to the little things—a smile, a hug, the smell of newly cut grass—that add up to a sense of presence and hope.

With evocative, lyrical prose, this warmly illustrated children's book is a reminder to pause, reflect, and take in the glimmers of positivity and connection that can be found amid even the most difficult circumstances. Both a timely meditation on finding gratitude in everyday moments and a timeless ode to the simple joy of truly being present, Finding Grateful encourages readers to slow down and embrace the beauty of being right where they are.

THE OFRENDA THAT WE BUILT

By Jolene Gutiérrez and Shaian Gutiérrez, illustrated by Gabby Zapata

It is Día de Muertos—the Day of the Dead—and the family ofrenda is at the center of the celebration! Inspired by the popular nursery rhyme “The House Jack Built,” The Ofrenda That We Built invites readers to learn about, and celebrate, the Day of the Dead as a family builds a colorful ofrenda. With warmth and energy, this spirited picture book is a joyful ode to family traditions and the memory of loved ones who have passed but whom we continue to remember.

ON A SUMMER NIGHT

By Deborah Hopkinson, illustrated by Kenard Pak

Step into the quiet magic of this celebration of summer nighttime and the mystery of a world lit differently by the moon. On a summer night, the world is still. Even the crickets think it's too hot to sing. But all at once, a girl wakes. In the kitchen, the cat rolls onto its soft paws. A neighbor's small white dog yaps, a brown rabbit peeks from a hedge, and the leaves of a cherry tree begin to stir in the breeze. Readers witness and wonder:

Who has woken them all? In this soothing bedtime story, the quiet of a warm summer night is brought to vivid, magical life with the soft steps of bare feet, the padding of paws, and the bright, golden light of the moon. One by one, each creature is roused and then gently returned to sleep in a lovely and lyrical exploration of wakefulness, restfulness, and the mysterious calm of the night.

A TREASURE OF MEASURES

By Mike Downs, illustrated by Joy Hwang Ruiz

There are so many little life moments to measure—and so many creative ways to measure them! How do you measure how long it takes to read a good book? Sure, you can use units of time, like minutes or hours . . . but you can also use your very own measurements: how many times you laugh or cry, how many pages you turn, or how many times you ask to read it again. And measuring rainfall could mean using decibels of sound . . . or how many people you see opening umbrellas. This playful picture book introduces young readers to different units of measurement, then invites them to think of creative ways to quantify the meaningful moments in their lives. The possibilities are as limitless as the imagination!

YOU'LL ALWAYS BE MY CHICKADEE
By Kate Hosford, illustrated by Sarah Gonzales

Weaving together the wonders of nature and a parent's devotion in one glorious day of outdoor exploration, this picture book is a beautiful, unforgettable ode to the bond between caregiver and child.

Busy birdsong, breaking dawn, melodies above the lawn. Fly right over here to me. You'll always be my chickadee. With lyrical, rhyming text by author Kate Hosford and gorgeous illustrations by artist Sarah Gonzales, this gentle book shows that there are as many ways to say I love you as there are special moments to be shared together. A restful bedtime book, a cherished read-aloud, and a memorable gift for new families, You'll Always Be My Chickadee reassures young children that no matter what, our love for them is as steadfast as the tallest forest tree and as endless as the stars in the sky.

TOO MANY GOLEMS
By Jane Yolen, illustrated by Maya Shleifer

Award-winning author Jane Yolen brings us a delightfully humorous tale inspired by Jewish folklore of a well-intentioned but mischievous boy who accidentally summons ten golems.

The rabbi's son, Abi, has a habit of getting in trouble. It's not on purpose, and usually, they're harmless accidents. But this time,

Abi has stolen a scroll from the synagogue—to practice his Hebrew!—and is not ready for what, or rather, who will show up at his front door as a result. The golems Abi summons may look monstrous, but we soon learn they are only there to help! With beloved author Jane Yolen's signature wit and delightful illustrations by Maya Shleifer, Too Many Golems conveys the unexpected joy of magical accidents and the importance of being a good neighbor to all.

ADDIE ANT GOES ON AN ADVENTURE
By Maren Morris, Illustrated by Kelly Anne Dalton

Acclaimed singer-songwriter Maren Morris's picture-book debut, Addie Ant Goes on an Adventure, is a delightful story of one little ant's journey for independence while realizing when to ask for help, set against the backdrop of a vast and abundant garden inhabited by some very helpful insect friends.

Addie Ant travels from one garden bed to another on her first solo adventure. As she forges her own path, she gets lost along the way and finds help from her trusted garden pals, Lewis Ladybug, Beatrix Butterfly, and Cleo Cricket, to find her way back home. The helpful lessons Addie Ant learns, including how to be brave and independent in a new setting and when to ask for help, are timeless helpful themes for young readers. A celebration of friendship and connection, this sweet and humorous children's picture book is a collaboration by acclaimed singer-songwriter Maren Morris and former schoolteacher and close friend Karina Argow. Artist Kelly Anne Dalton brings the delightfully written characters to life with colorful and charming illustrations. Join Addie Ant in a vast and magical garden adventure full of insect friends, growing vegetables, blooming flowers, and the inspiring abundance of nature.

MAKE A PRETTY SOUND
A Story of Ella Jenkins
By Traci N. Todd, illustrated by Eleanor Davis

A beautiful picture book biography about Ella Jenkins, “The First Lady of Children’s Folk Song,” and her contribution to children’s music education. Ella Jenkins is considered the first lady of children’s music. At a time when children’s music was mostly novelty songs and movie soundtracks, she believed that music could be a powerful tool to teach. From the very beginning, she believed that a child’s natural curiosity and good nature could be fed by introducing them to the folk rhythms, music, and dance of cultures from all over the world. This book tells Ella’s story from the time she was a young child, first learning about music through her Uncle Flood playing harmonica, to her encounters with racial discrimination, and finally her involvement with the folk music movement and her discovery that music could be a powerful tool to teach children and bridge cultures, leading her to perform and work with children on all seven continents (including Antarctica!).

JELLA LEPMAN
By Katherine Paterson

From the beloved author Katherine Paterson, winner of both the Astrid Lindgren Memorial and Hans Christian Andersen Awards, comes an inspiring, exciting, and true story of books used to transform young lives. Jella Lepman returned to a war-ravaged Germany in 1945 with the mission to restore a sense of childhood and innocence to children who had only known years of conflict and violence. She did so by making available children’s books she had begged from publishers the world over. That collection would become the foundation of the International Youth Library, and her work would lead to the creation of the International Board on Books for Young People (IBBY).

COMET CHASER
The True Cinderella Story of Caroline Herschel, the First Professional Woman Astronomer
By Pamela Turner, illustrated by Vivien Mildenberger

In a day when girls were barely educated at all, Caroline Herschel’s father taught her math and music . . . until, suddenly, he died. Her mother saw her as little more than a household servant. Caroline might have been doomed to a life of drudgery and dimness if not for her brother, who took her from Germany to England. There they started building telescopes in their free time, gradually making them larger and larger, and discovering new comets—even new planets! When the great astronomers of the day wondered how Caroline and her brother accomplished this and came to see for themselves, they found that the Herschels had made the best telescopes of their time. From household drudge to belle of the scientific ball, Caroline Herschel won international prizes never before awarded to a woman and earned a professional wage from the king. She and her discoveries remain as stunning today as they were then. Some of her calculations are still in use!

SAFE CROSSING
By Kari Percival

How does an amphibian cross the road? With the help of the Amphibian Migration Team! Artful nonfiction about a citizen scientist who acts as a crossing guard for migrating amphibians—and eventually helps build them a tunnel to safety! Every spring, frogs and salamanders must travel from their upland homes to the woodland pools where they were born to mate. Unfortunately, roads constructed through their habitat have made the journey dangerous for these slow-moving animals. Many never reach their destination. But with the help of the Amphibian Migration Team, there is hope for a safe crossing. Inquisitive and motivational, this nonfiction picture book by Kari Percival offers a peek at the challenges amphibians face to survive and reproduce and the ways young citizens can speak up to defend the environment.

STELLA AND MARIGOLD BOOK 1
By Annie Barrows, illustrated by Sophie Blackall

From the bestselling creators of Ivy + Bean comes a new chapter book series about two small girls with very big imaginations.

There is the whole world, and in it, there is a city, and in that city, there's a house, and in that house, there are two half-houses, and in one of those half-houses, there lives a pair of sisters named Stella and Marigold. Stella, who's seven, and Marigold, who's four, do all the regular things—like going to school, playing, getting sick sometimes, and sometimes going to the zoo—but even the most regular things have a secret side. There's something that happened with a blanket. And what about the wolves, a terrible storm and two brave children (maybe one named Stella and one named Marigold)? Did those things really happen? Open this book and discover for yourself.

New York Times Bestseller!

INVISIBLE THINGS by Andy J. Pizza and Sophie Miller

★ “[T]his book will serve as a great tool for little ones to begin paying attention to their busy inner selves. In a one-on-one setting, it will serve as a launchpad for 100 thoughtful conversations—and it will never be dull.”

— Booklist, starred review

“Pizza and Miller aim to help readers “SEE THE INVISIBLE” in a picture book that doubles as a body-scan meditation... In energetic, meandering prose, the pages explore internal and external feelings and moods.”

— Publishers Weekly

“Sure to spark conversation.... Make sure you see this playful, wise title.”

— Kirkus Reviews

In addition to the bestselling picture book, we also have two board books about emotions (see pg. 91) and a set of flash cards (see pg. 94) publishing Fall 2024!
